4 U.S. Servicemen Die In Viet Nam Air Crashes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Three air crashes in 24 hours in South Viet Nam's guerrilla-infested jungles today left 26 dead, including four American servicemen.

Five more Americans were missing in the air crashes, and another was killed in an ambush Saturday in one of the bloodiest weekends in recent months.

A two-engined troop-laden Vietnamese air force transport crashed near the Laos border far north of Saigon today in the most serious of the air mishaps, killing 22 Vietnamese soldiers and a U.S. Air Force flight instructor. There were four survivors, all reported to be Vietnamese.

The C47 transport caught fire and crashed on take off at Kontum Airport, 260 miles northeast of here.

Seven planes and six helicopters searched for the wreckage of a two-engine U.S. transport believed to have crashed Sunday against a mountain while on a flight from Saigon to Ban Me Thuot, 160 miles to the northeast. The C123 transport had a crew of four Americans aboard.

The search was hampered by heavy rain and mist over the foothills and mountains around Ban Me Thuot.

Other search crews probed the mountainous jungle 280 miles northeast of Saigon where a U.S. Army H21 helicopter crashed in flames after being hit by guerrilla gunfire.

Ground parties found the charred bodies of two U.S. Army officers and an enlisted man. But an American enlisted man and two Vietnamese were still missing.

The only known survivor, a U.S. Army captain said to have been the pilot, was found walking through the jungle five miles from the crash. He was only slightly injured and accounts here shed no light on how he survived.

The names of all dead and missing Americans in the air crashes were withheld pending notification of kin.

But the American killed in an ambush 40 miles north of Saigon on Saturday was identified as U.S. Army Capt. Don J. York, Asheville, N.C. an adviser to Vietnamese airborne troops. Guerrillas killed 23 Vietnamese in the ambush.

The confirmed deaths brought to 27 the number of U.S. service-27 the number of U.S. servicemen killed in Viet Nam, 10 of them in combat since the United States began its stepped up assistance here last December.

U.S. authorities said the plane presumably crashed on what was described as a maintenance support mission from Saigon to the town of Ban Me Thuot, 160 miles northeast of here.

It was the third transport to crash in South Viet Nam since December.

A third search was under way in neighboring Laos for a light twin-engine plane missing since Saturday with two Americans aboard.

The plane's owners said it carried an American pilot and a member of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group on a flight from Vientiane to Paksane, 65 miles eastward.

In all three air incidents, names of the Americans were withheld.

Soviet Rejects U.S. Bid To Curb Nuclear Tests

Party Gives Senate Nod To Ribicoff

Democrats Divided In Connecticut Bid By Ex-Cabinet Aide

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut Democrats faced today the job of healing a serious breach in party unity after nominating Abraham A. Ribicoff for the U.S. Senate.

Ribicoff, who resigned as welfare secretary in the Kennedy Cabinet to return to Connecticut politics, was nominated at the rowdiest state convention in recent memory.

While party leaders, including State and National Chairman John M. Bailey, pondered how to heal the wounds, Rep. Frank Kowalski, loser in the Senate nomination battle, was left to ponder his political future after two terms in office.

The convention, which ended Sunday morning, chose Ribicoff, a former governor, over the retired Army colonel, as expected. Kowalski was left with less than 20 per cent of the votes, and no chance to call for a statewide primary.

Gov. John N. Dempsey, who succeeded Ribicoff as governor 18 months ago, was nominated unanimously as gubernatorial candidate.

Ribicoff's Republican opponent is Rep. Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a veteran of six terms in Congress.

The convention results left no doubt that Bailey was still in the saddle. But the finality of Kowalski's defeat was a bitter pill for his vociferous followers to swallow.

They had jeered every time the names of Bailey and Ribicoff were mentioned from the platform. They had interrupted the keynote address delivered Friday night by Mansfield and shouted down Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., when he placed Ribicoff's name in nomination.

When their champion, in defiance of protocol, appeared on the stage during a floor demonstration in his honor and urged them on, they went into a near frenzy.

Scores of shouting demonstrators who had been denied admission to the hall stormed the doors, bursting past police guards.

After the tumult, Ribicoff was overwhelmingly endorsed by a vote of 786-163.

Negotiations Slated To Center On U.S., Russian Proposals

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin rejected in advance today an American compromise designed to reach a nuclear test ban treaty soon.

Zorin was asked in a news conference if the Soviet Union would be willing to accept international inspections on its territory, if the United States and Britain drop their proposal for internationally staffed seismic detection stations inside Russia.

He said the Western plan was "no compromise at all in our view."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean said on his arrival Saturday the Western powers are ready to make this compromise to help get a treaty, but would insist the accord provide for international inspection of the site of a suspicious event detected on Soviet soil.

The new Western idea has not yet been raised in the disarmament talks, which resumed today after a month-long recess.

Zorin said the Soviet Union has already made its own compromise by accepting as a negotiating basis a neutralist proposal providing for on-site inspections only by invitation of the country where the suspicious event took place.

"We are prepared to conclude a test ban treaty on the basis of the neutralist proposal, and on no other basis," Zorin added.

The Soviet stand came as the delegates sat in an atmosphere notable for a lack of expression of optimism. Only Dean was optimistic enough to say that there was a better chance now for a test ban treaty. But that was before Zorin talked with reporters.

The New York Times said the United States and its allies are willing to agree to a cut-off date for nuclear weapon tests that would allow the Soviet Union to conduct the last series of tests. Jan. 1, 1963 is the date being discussed, the Times said.

The idea of a fixed cut-off was proposed by Mexico before the conference adjourned a month ago but no action was taken then.

There was a general feeling that a three-power agreement to end nuclear weapon tests was the only issue in these disarmament talks that had any chance of being settled in the foreseeable future.

The Geneva negotiations for world disarmament — a project discussed for 15 years in various forums without any progress at all—are expected to last for several more years.

The Western plan, already rejected by the Soviets, provides for gradual disarmament with control provisions to guarantee

Alert Officer Arrests Pair For Burglary

Boy, 18, And Man Confess Theft Of Metal At Building

An alert officer on foot patrol nabbed an 18-year-old youth and a man, 21, early Sunday as they were in the act of loading hundreds of pounds of metal into their auto following burglary of the downtown warehouse of a plumbing and heating concern, police said.

Burglary charges were filed against Thomas Wilford Moore, 21, of 244 W. 5th St. and William H. Clendenning, 18, of 129½ W. 6th St., arrested at 1:30 a. m. yesterday by Patrolman Paul E. Carter for the breaking and entering of the warehouse of the Hall Plumbing & Heating Co., located at 130 Rural Ln.

Officers said the pair had stolen six pieces of sheet lead valued at $33.21, three pieces of lead flashing worth $18.75, 200 pounds of miscellaneous used lead, five pounds of copper pipe and a tire tool.

When nabbed by Officer Carter, the men were loading the metal into a car which they had parked in a small lot at the rear of the County Election Board's office, which is directly across W. 6th St. from City Hall, police said.

Lt. W. E. McDaniel, officer in charge of Patrolman Carter's shift, commended the officer following the arrest.

"It was the alertness of Officer Carter while on foot patrol, investigating suspicious circumstances, that led to a quick arrest and solution of a burglary," Lt. McDaniel said.

It all began when Patrolman Carter, on patrol, noticed a car parked in the metered city lot across W. 6th from City Hall. Investigation disclosed that nothing was amiss about the registration. A short time later, he noted a man enter the car and drive it away.

As he continued his rounds, Officer Carter next spotted the car parked at the rear of the Election Board office, a short distance from the plumbing concern's warehouse.

Patrolman Carter set up a watch nearby and soon saw the two carrying metal which they loaded into the auto, police said.

Ohio Lists 14 Road Deaths For Weekend

By The Associated Press

Two cars collided in the fog near Lima early Sunday—four persons were killed. That accident helped push Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to 14—the average maintained during the past five weekends.

Also reported to the Associated Press during the 54-hour period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday were two drownings and the death of a man crushed between stacks of steel in a Parma factory.

Those mishaps put the state's over-all accidental death toll at 17, the lowest since the weekend ending June 10.

The fatalities:

Sunday

Allen Rundio, 52; Silas Stalnaker, 50; Mrs. Echo Stalnaker, 52, and John P. Bowers, 18, all of Lima, in an auto collision in fog on U.S. 30 Northeast of Lima.

John Antleck, 67, Benwood, W. Va., and Lewis Jarvis, 34, Bellefontaine, when their pickup truck loaded with a 200-gallon drum of gasoline went out of control on U.S. 422 and struck a bridge abutment, overturned and caught fire.

Marianne L. Miller, 27, Akron, when her car went out of control and turned over on a county road about six miles north of Marion.

William O. Smith, 20, Cincinnati, when his car crashed into a utility pole in Cincinnati.

Isaac Brown Jr., 37, Columbus, when his car collided with another on an interchange in Columbus.

Mrs. Margaret Fay Hufford, 25, Columbus, when her car hit a retaining wall in Columbus.

Saturday

Loton Nichols, 46, Olmsted Falls, when his car spun out of control, sheared off a fire hydrant and rammed into a utility pole in North Olmsted.

Charles George, 16, Cincinnati, drowned in a lake near Batavia where he had been taking a last swim before leaving a church camp.

Paul Hoctor, 29, Columbus, when his parked car was struck by another auto which skidded off Ohio 357 near Port Clinton.

Drifting Auto Injures 3 At Family Picnic

Woman, 2 Children Hurt During Outing At Guilford Lake

Three persons, including an East Liverpool woman and a small child, were injured Sunday afternoon about 3:30 when a parked car rolled down a hillside picnic area at Whinery's Landing at Guilford Lake and crashed into their table.

Mrs. Louis (Erma) Holdshoe, 23, of 8 Thompson Pl. and Donelda Kiehl, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kiehl of Rogers R. D. 1, were hospitalized with injuries suffered in the mishap, while Paula Sue Alford, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alford, also of 8 Thompson Place, was released after treatment.

Mrs. Holdshoe and Miss Kiehl both are in "fairly good" condition at Salem Central Clinic. They are expected to be transferred today to City Hospital.

Mrs. Holdshoe suffered a possible fracture of the pelvis, abrasions and contusion of the left foot, left leg and left elbow and a possible fracture of the left ankle. Miss Kiehl suffered severe contusions of the right hand and abrasions of both legs.

The Alford child was treated at Salem City Hospital for lacerations of the lower lip and brush burns of the face.

All were members of a party of seven on an outing at the lake. Friends said the table was crushed.

Deputy Sheriff Howard Gray said the car plowed into the picnic table and stopped against a big tree. Mrs. Holdshoe and Donelda were pinned between the table and tree. If the car had not been stopped by the tree, it would have run into a crowded picnic pavilion further downhill, Gray said.

The car, a 1956 sedan, is owned by John J. Haubert of Canton. The Haubert children, a boy, 6, and a girl, 5, were in the car and evidently knocked the gear

Senate Plans Fast OK For Celebrezze

GOP Leaders Hint No Opposition For Cabinet Selection

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Kennedy's nomination of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland to be the next secretary of welfare appears headed for speedy Senate confirmation.

Senate Republican leaders said they doubted there would be any opposition and Democrats were high in their praise of Celebrezze, 51, named Saturday to succeed Abraham A. Ribicoff.

The White House said the nomination probably would be sent to the Senate today. There it will be turned over to the Finance Committee.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said no hearings are planned but, as is customary, Celebrezze will be required to make an appearance before the group.

"So far as I know there is no objection to him," said Byrd at his home in Berryville, Va.

Celebrezze, now serving an unprecedented fifth term as Cleveland's mayor, is due in Washington Tuesday for a conference with Kennedy.

Byrd said the nomination will be worked in "as soon as we can —there won't be any delay."

On the Republican side, Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said, "I assume the record will disclose nothing that will prevent his confirmation."

Noting Celebrezze's popularity with Cleveland voters, Dirksen remarked: "Evidently he's done a very able job."

Celebrezze was elected to the Ohio Senate in 1950 and re-elected in 1952. He won his first race for

Doctor Kept Faulty Drug From Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — A skeptical woman doctor kept off the American market a drug ultimately blamed for thousands of birth malformations in Europe.

How and why Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey, a Food and Drug Administration medical officer, blocked a marketing license here for thalidomide were detailed Sunday by the Washington Post.

Here is the Post's account:

In September 1960, Dr. Kelsey received from the William S. Merell Co. of Cincinnati a request for permission to market the sedative in the United States under the name Kevadon.

The drug was being sold in Canada, Dr. Kelsey's native country, and in Europe with no harmful side effects noted. Still, the 47 year-old medical officer regarded its safety as unproved.

For the next year she kept declining to license the drug.

In November 1961, the firm heard from Europe that thalidomide had been linked with malformations in babies born to women who had used it when pregnant. The Merrell company reported this promptly to Dr. Kelsey and withdrew its application.

Subsequent investigations, particularly in West Germany, established a link between the drug and phocomelia, a malformation that usually deprives its victims of one arm, leaving rudimentary

Test Awaits Medicare In Senate Vote

Tabling Action Set Tuesday On Health Program For Aged

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Kennedy's Social Security health care plan for the aged faces a decisive test in Congress this week.

The measure is the major item on a schedule which promises a busy week in both Senate and House.

The Senate, which has debated the bitterly disputed health care issue for two weeks, is to vote Tuesday afternoon on whether to table and thus kill the president's plan.

A revised version has been worked out to win support of five Republicans, but both sides expect the result to be extremely close.

Sponsored by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., it is being offered as an amendment to a House-passed bill revising the public welfare laws. If the plan passes the Senate, it goes on to the House where its prospects are doubtful.

After disposing of the matter the Senate is expected to take up a money bill to provide funds for the Welfare and Labor departments.

Space Balloon Ride Kills 2 Monkeys, 4 Hamsters

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP)—Two monkeys and four hamsters exposed to cosmic rays were reported found dead after their capsule was parachuted into dense bush country from a high-flying U.S. research balloon Sunday.

The report came from a helicopter crew that visited the site a few hours after the cluster of three capsules was released. There was no immediate word on the cause of the death of the animals.

The experiment was to test the effects of 50 per cent exposure to the radiation that man is expected to encounter in future journeys into space.

Flower beetles, which are extremely sensitive to cosmic radiation, also went in a separate capsule on the 1,800-mile ride at altitudes of up to 131,000 feet across the North American continent that began Saturday.

First reports from the wilderness area where the capsules fell did not mention the insects' fate. A third capsule carried instruments.

The capsules' release from the balloon was triggered over Candle Lake in northern Saskatchewan.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Adminitration directed the research project. Two more launchings are planned this summer to provide basic information on radiation problems applicable to manned space flight.

Beaver Child Drowns While Playing At Pool

BEAVER — Eric Doelling, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doelling of nearby Brighton Township, was drowned Sunday in an accident at a neighbor's swimming pool.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Rochester General Hospital after a neighbor applied artificial respiration unsuccessfully. The victim's father was summoned and dived into the pool to pull the boy out, police said.

Officers said the boy and a companion, also 3, were floating blocks of wood in the pool when the victim lost his balance and toppled into the water. No one else was present, officers said.

Loyal Tribesmen Block Algerian Leftists' Drive

ALGIERS (AP) — The tough tribesmen of the Kabylie Mountains have become the biggest obstacle to Ahmed Ben Bella's campaign for power in Algeria.

The dissident deputy premier's followers describe Algeria's Kabyle minority as their main problem. They are working hard to win the Kabyles' sympathies.

But Ben Bella's agents, campaigning in the towns and villages of the mountain range east of Algiers, are finding the Kabyles' tribal discipline impossible to break. Almost to a man, they are loyal to the government of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda.

Estimated to number more than a million, the Kabyles took a leading part in the bitter underground war against the French. They suffered heavy losses. Hundreds of their villages were destroyed and their inhabitants moved to relocation camps.

Now that the war is over, they are rebuilding their villages. They generally favor Algeria's cooperation with France, as laid down in the Evian peace agreements and promised by Ben Khedda. Ben Bella wants to turn Algeria toward the Communist East.

The Kabyles' leader is balding revolutionary hero Belkacem Krim, one of the strong men of Ben Khedda's team and the chief nationalist negotiator at the Evian talks.

Drifting Auto Injures 3 At Family Picnic

Woman, 2 Children Hurt During Outing At Guilford Lake

Three persons, including an East Liverpool woman and a small child, were injured Sunday afternoon about 3:30 when a parked car rolled down a hillside picnic area at Whinery's Landing at Guilford Lake and crashed into their table.

Mrs. Louis (Erma) Holdshoe, 23, of 8 Thompson Pl. and Donelda Kiehl, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kiehl of Rogers R. D. 1, were hospitalized with injuries suffered in the mishap, while Paula Sue Alford, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Alford, also of 8 Thompson Place, was released after treatment.

Mrs. Holdshoe and Miss Kiehl both are in "fairly good" condition at Salem Central Clinic. They are expected to be transferred today to City Hospital.

Mrs. Holdshoe suffered a possible fracture of the pelvis, abrasions and contusion of the left foot, left leg and left elbow and a possible fracture of the left ankle. Miss Kiehl suffered severe contusions of the right hand and abrasions of both legs.

The Alford child was treated at Salem City Hospital for lacerations of the lower lip and brush burns of the face.

All were members of a party of seven on an outing at the lake. Friends said the table was crushed.

Deputy Sheriff Howard Gray said the car plowed into the picnic table and stopped against a big tree. Mrs. Holdshoe and Donelda were pinned between the table and tree. If the car had not been stopped by the tree, it would have run into a crowded picnic pavilion further downhill, Gray said.

The car, a 1956 sedan, is owned by John J. Haubert of Canton. The Haubert children, a boy, 6, and a girl, 5, were in the car and evidently knocked the gear

Senate Plans Fast OK For Celebrezze

GOP Leaders Hint No Opposition For Cabinet Selection

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Kennedy's nomination of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland to be the next secretary of welfare appears headed for speedy Senate confirmation.

Senate Republican leaders said they doubted there would be any opposition and Democrats were high in their praise of Celebrezze, 51, named Saturday to succeed Abraham A. Ribicoff.

The White House said the nomination probably would be sent to the Senate today. There it will be turned over to the Finance Committee.

Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said no hearings are planned but, as is customary, Celebrezze will be required to make an appearance before the group.

"So far as I know there is no objection to him," said Byrd at his home in Berryville, Va.

Celebrezze, now serving an unprecedented fifth term as Cleveland's mayor, is due in Washington Tuesday for a conference with Kennedy.

Byrd said the nomination will be worked in "as soon as we can —there won't be any delay."

On the Republican side, Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said, "I assume the record will disclose nothing that will prevent his confirmation."

Noting Celebrezze's popularity with Cleveland voters, Dirksen remarked: "Evidently he's done a very able job."

Celebrezze was elected to the Ohio Senate in 1950 and re-elected in 1952. He won his first race for

Sunny Sky Promised For District Tuesday

Tired of looking through the overcast that has hung over the area since Saturday?

The Ohio weatherman promised today that will be corrected Tuesday, with a bright sun and clear skies.

The high today will hit 72-78 and the overnight low will be 56-62. The haze should begin to lift this afternoon, the forecaster said.

The weatherman made good on a promise of rain for Sunday. He sent a light shower Sunday evening, which made it the second consecutive day with rain.

Doctor Kept Faulty Drug From Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — A skeptical woman doctor kept off the American market a drug ultimately blamed for thousands of birth malformations in Europe.

How and why Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey, a Food and Drug Administration medical officer, blocked a marketing license here for thalidomide were detailed Sunday by the Washington Post.

Here is the Post's account:

In September 1960, Dr. Kelsey received from the William S. Merell Co. of Cincinnati a request for permission to market the sedative in the United States under the name Kevadon.

The drug was being sold in Canada, Dr. Kelsey's native country, and in Europe with no harmful side effects noted. Still, the 47 year-old medical officer regarded its safety as unproved.

For the next year she kept declining to license the drug.

In November 1961, the firm heard from Europe that thalidomide had been linked with malformations in babies born to women who had used it when pregnant. The Merrell company reported this promptly to Dr. Kelsey and withdrew its application.

Subsequent investigations, particularly in West Germany, established a link between the drug and phocomelia, a malformation that usually deprives its victims of one arm, leaving rudimentary

Test Awaits Medicare In Senate Vote

Tabling Action Set Tuesday On Health Program For Aged

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Kennedy's Social Security health care plan for the aged faces a decisive test in Congress this week.

The measure is the major item on a schedule which promises a busy week in both Senate and House.

The Senate, which has debated the bitterly disputed health care issue for two weeks, is to vote Tuesday afternoon on whether to table and thus kill the president's plan.

A revised version has been worked out to win support of five Republicans, but both sides expect the result to be extremely close.

Sponsored by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., it is being offered as an amendment to a House-passed bill revising the public welfare laws. If the plan passes the Senate, it goes on to the House where its prospects are doubtful.

After disposing of the matter the Senate is expected to take up a money bill to provide funds for the Welfare and Labor departments.

Space Balloon Ride Kills 2 Monkeys, 4 Hamsters

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (AP)—Two monkeys and four hamsters exposed to cosmic rays were reported found dead after their capsule was parachuted into dense bush country from a high-flying U.S. research balloon Sunday.

The report came from a helicopter crew that visited the site a few hours after the cluster of three capsules was released. There was no immediate word on the cause of the death of the animals.

The experiment was to test the effects of 50 per cent exposure to the radiation that man is expected to encounter in future journeys into space.

Flower beetles, which are extremely sensitive to cosmic radiation, also went in a separate capsule on the 1,800-mile ride at altitudes of up to 131,000 feet across the North American continent that began Saturday.

First reports from the wilderness area where the capsules fell did not mention the insects' fate. A third capsule carried instruments.

The capsules' release from the balloon was triggered over Candle Lake in northern Saskatchewan.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration directed the research project. Two more launchings are planned this summer to provide basic information on radiation problems applicable to manned space flight.

Beaver Child Drowns While Playing At Pool

BEAVER — Eric Doelling, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Doelling of nearby Brighton Township, was drowned Sunday in an accident at a neighbor's swimming pool.

The child was pronounced dead on arrival at Rochester General Hospital after a neighbor applied artificial respiration unsuccessfully. The victim's father was summoned and dived into the pool to pull the boy out, police said.

Officers said the boy and a companion, also 3, were floating blocks of wood in the pool when the victim lost his balance and toppled into the water. No one else was present, officers said.

Loyal Tribesmen Block Algerian Leftists' Drive

ALGIERS (AP) — The tough tribesmen of the Kabylie Mountains have become the biggest obstacle to Ahmed Ben Bella's campaign for power in Algeria.

The dissident deputy premier's followers describe Algeria's Kabyle minority as their main problem. They are working hard to win the Kabyles' sympathies.

But Ben Bella's agents, campaigning in the towns and villages of the mountain range east of Algiers, are finding the Kabyles' tribal discipline impossible to break. Almost to a man, they are loyal to the government of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda.

Estimated to number more than a million, the Kabyles took a leading part in the bitter underground war against the French. They suffered heavy losses. Hundreds of their villages were destroyed and their inhabitants moved to relocation camps.

Now that the war is over, they are rebuilding their villages. They generally favor Algeria's cooperation with France, as laid down in the Evian peace agreements and promised by Ben Khedda. Ben Bella wants to turn Algeria toward the Communist East.

The Kabyles' leader is balding revolutionary hero Belkacem Krim, one of the strong men of Ben Khedda's team and the chief nationalist negotiator at the Evian talks.

'No Panther,' St. Clair Told

The Calcutta's area's "panther" is non-existent, according to John Jackson, chief of St. Clair Township police constables.

Jackson said today an extensive search in the last week has failed to turn up anything except house cats, some of which were black and very large.

Jackson said there is nothing for the public to be alarmed about. He said he and his constables have checked out numerous calls, but each time found only house pets.

If it had been a panther or a similar animal, there would have been reports of farm stock being killed, as the animal would require food, he commented.

Such an animal also would shy away from homes and all reports have had the animal prowling around in yards or nearby fields, he said.

Reports of such an animal started over a week ago and gained momentum as the word spread.

Hancock County Court Postpones Civil Action

A damage suit slated to be tried today in Hancock County Circuit Court in New Cumberland has been postponed until September.

The plaintiffs are William and Grace Wedgewood of Chester, who ask damages from Leo K. Eberhart of Chester, the Eclipse Motor Lines of Columbus, and Earl Moore, a truck driver for the firm.

The suit stems from a traffic mishap May 27, 1959, in Chester. The case ended in a mistrial in March.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. What can I do about some of my expensive crystal goblets that have become chipped at the edges?

A. There's nothing you can do at home. They can, however, receive good first aid treatment from a good glazier. Ask your favorite store where this can be done.

Q. What is the best way to store leftover putty in order to prevent its drying out?

A. Keep it in a plastic bag.

Q. How can I prevent that unsightly crease that often results when trousers have been hanging for some time on a wire coat hanger?

A. One way is to place a newspaper under the trousers while they are on the hanger. Or, loop a piece of cardboard over the hanger. Don't fold the cardboard — just let it curve gently, and fasten it with paper clips at the bottom.

Q. How can I keep leather luggage, handbags, briefcases, and other such items in good condition?

A. After washing with a cloth wrung out of pure soapsuds, apply neat's foot oil, lanolin, or castor oil — all of which are leather conditioners.

Q. How can I keep cream from curdling?

A. If the sweetness of cream seems uncertain, stir a pinch of baking soda into it. This prevents it from curdling even in hot coffee.

Q. How can I facilitate the drying of a sweater I've just washed?

A. By placing it in a turkish towel, and then pressing out the excess moisture with a rolling pin.

'No Panther,' St. Clair Told

The Calcutta's area's "panther" is non-existent, according to John Jackson, chief of St. Clair Township police constables.

Jackson said today an extensive search in the last week has failed to turn up anything except house cats, some of which were black and very large.

Jackson said there is nothing for the public to be alarmed about. He said he and his constables have checked out numerous calls, but each time found only house pets.

If it had been a panther or a similar animal, there would have been reports of farm stock being killed, as the animal would require food, he commented.

Such an animal also would shy away from homes and all reports have had the animal prowling around in yards or nearby fields, he said.

Reports of such an animal started over a week ago and gained momentum as the word spread.

No Departure From The Script

Each year when it's time to march up Capitol Hill and back again on the foreign aid issue, they get out a dog-eared script and follow the routine procedure. It never changes.

The White House calls in expert counsel from here, there and everywhere to firm up its request for umpity million dollars' worth of aid to deserving countries. This is the only way to stop communism, the argument runs.

Opposition congressman sniff at the claim that some of the countries deserve to be saved and declare the time has come and gone to ditch foreign aid. They are backed in this stand by editorialists from coast to coast, who write deep-dish pieces about the evolution and devolution of foreign aid, suggesting it's high time something should be done about it etc.

CONGRESSIONAL hearings are held. Dismal evidence that foreign aid is a flop is presented. But in the meantime speeches are being made and articles published in magazines and newspapers to prove that foreign aid has been the Free World's salvation. Highly placed persons and solid congressional witnesses sing its praises. The issue finally comes to a showdown; it is time to vote on it. And when the last page of the dog-eared script has been flipped over, foreign aid has passed again with only minor alterations, most of which will be thrown out when the House and Senate versions go to conference committee.

Why does it always happen the same way? Because foreign aid always has been a talking issue, not an acting issue. It's good politics and good sense to talk about it, to show what's wrong with its administration and demand that things be done better. But in a congressional showdown, the talking issue always gives way to the acting issue.

For its own purposes the United States has been exerting its influence and distributing its surpluses abroad ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt decided to send surplus destroyers to Britain when the Nazis were threatening to invade across the English Channel.

WHEN IT'S time to act, the truth comes out. Even those who vote no are frequently —but secretly—meaning yes.

There has been no departure from the script in 1962. The United States will spend upward of $4.6 billion for foreign aid in the current year. Last January President Kennedy asked for $3.9 billion.

Somehow or other in the marching up and down and the issue-making, another half billion attached itself to the total.

When The Steel Chips Are Down

Sometime this month the U.S. Navy will award a contract for 2,000 tons of carbon steel to build three destroyer-type missile frigates.

The contract will mean work for several hundred American workmen because it will go to U.S. mills, regardless of the fact the low bidders will be West German and Japanese steelmakers. A sensitive policy is involved.

The policy crystallized after criticism of an earlier purchase of 3,500 tons of armor plate for guided missile frigates from West German mills. When Defense Secretary McNamara announced this summer that his department was buying foreign drugs at one-half to one-eighth of their wholesale price here it appeared that the Kennedy administration was continuing the Eisenhower policy of giving business to foreign suppliers whose bids were 6 to 10 per cent lower than the bids of their U.S. competitors.

But the fact steel production has been bumping along at just above 50 per cent capacity dictated a decision not to affront the industry at this time with another government contract to foreign competitors.

According to Steel Magazine, the Navy received 7.4 per cent of its steel needs from abroad in the first 10 months of fiscal 1962—the fiscal year that ended last June 30. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., asked for presidential intervention on June 28. He rejected a Navy argument that U.S. taxpayers had been saved $153,000 on a 3,000-ton purchase of steel from West Germany. What really had happened, said Sen. Scott, was that American steel workers had failed to receive $382,000 in wages.

This is the traditional argument for protection of U.S. industry—the argument that supposedly is going to be shelved when the United States sets about the leveling of tariff barriers.

The decision to buy American steel regardless of cost will not be disregarded by the trading partners of the United States. To them it will be evidence that the United States has not really changed its mind about protectionism. But in truth the Kennedy administration had no choice. Several hundred thousand jobs might exist throughout the steel industry if the United States could go back to being an exporter of steel, instead of an importer. For the past three years imports of steel have exceeded exports.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: You knew darned well what I wanted when I asked for French postcards. When we got pictures of the statuary at Versailles your Aunt Effie almost laughed herself into the hospital. The pictures weren't even of the opposite sex in all cases.

Do you suppose people formerly looked like that? Are we changing the lines of homo sapiens? I am referring particularly to the ladies. There isn't one of those babes who wouldn't be on a crash reducing diet today, trying to slim down.

We did enjoy your letters, even if your postcards left something to be desired. . . shall we say? We never knew before that the British are pushovers for artificial flowers and we would be too if ours looked as real as theirs do; that their young girls look like floosies because they use too much makeup and not enough material at the bottoms of their skirts;

That there are no screen doors or window screens in the United Kingdom; that front doors are painted bright colors and many householders cover them with cloth drapes to protect them from the sun;

That summer daylight is almost continuous in Edinburgh because it's farther north than Newfoundland; that Queen Elizabeth draws no cheers in Scotland despite the fact her mother is a Scot and her husband is the Duke of Edinburgh; that there are still pill boxes in evidence, built to resist the Nazi invasion that never occurred;

That British girls have good-looking legs (trust you to take note of that) and this may be the result of much walking and bike riding; that crash helmets are compulsory for motorcyclists; that coffee over there has gone from too weak to too strong as the result of universal use of instant coffee;

That warm beer and warm whisky are tastier than their chilled versions in the United States; that American-made cars are almost never used because they would be unwieldy on sharp turns and in narrow streets; that British bobbies are young and handsome and no one knows what happens to the old ones that get fat and ugly;

That the Rolls Royce Princess sedans used to show off royalty make our ceremonial cars look like compacts; that the U.S. Navy's Calcaterra and the Coast Guard cutters Absecon and Yakutat, also the Coast Guard training ship Eagle, a sailing vessel, were in Edinburgh on Independence Day and you went all the way to the docks to wish your countrymen a happy day;

Also that you felt like a Tory that day for taking off your hat when the Queen went by because Scotsmen just stared at the lady and showed no respect; also that bagpipes never were intended to be heard at close range but from the hills far away;

Also that you'd better know that high tea in Scotland is supper and the big meal is lunch or you'll go to bed hungry; also that in first-class restaurants and hostelries you drink coffee after the meal in the lounge, never at the table;

Also that service station people, who frequently are women, never clean the "windscreen" except by request and then are so indifferent about it you might as well have spit on it and cleaned it yourself; plus the fact they hide the spare tire on an Austin Cambridge so cleverly you had to collar an expert to tell you where it was;

And plus the astonishing information that there are no fireplugs in British towns — nothing but signs telling firemen where to find water connections underground but the mail boxes look like giant red fireplugs so it all comes out even.

In your case, travel was not only broadening; it flattened you. We marvel at the amount of trivia that stuck to you. Regards to the folks.

Air Archeologists

Archeologists, who traditionally work on their knees in dirt, are taking to the air for a fresh and profitable look at buried civilizations of the past.

Airborne archeologists have learned that when man disturbs the ground to build cities or plow fields, soil marks remain century after century.

High-altitude pictures give a comprehensive view of an ancient community—its agriculture, roads, buildings and forticiations.

Aerial pictures of a field in southwest England, for example, show minute patches of rich vegetation. Here the wooden columns of a Bronze Age sanctuary decayed, enriching the soil.

Ditches that surrounded Neolithic settlements in Italy have long since been filled, yet the 4,000-year-old pattern is still visible from the air.

In North Africa, airborne archeologists have located the outer fortifications of Carthage.

Near Italy's Adriatic Coast, a single aerial photograph shows the superimposed outlines of round Stone-Age huts, the square plots of an ancient Roman farm and the irregular foundations of a 13th-century village and manor of Emperor Frederick the Second.

This And That

Flying squirrels do not really fly. They glide for long distances from high points to the ground by means of the extensivle skin which spreads out like a plane's wings from the forefeet to the hind feet.

The lecture circuit enjoys a big popularity in the United States. According to latest figures, there are about 504 individual lecturers heard throughout America each year during the annual October-to-June lecture season.

Takes Two To Make A Bargain

GOP Leader Hits Kennedy Record

By William E. Miller

Rep. William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, was invited by Victor Riesel to be a guest columnist. In the following article, Rep. Miller tells what he thinks of the Democratic party..

The challenge of the '60s cannot be met by an administrationn still living in the '30s, implementing policies which failed then and are failing now.

Nor can they be met by an administration seeking to cover up its failure through domination of this year's congressional campaign with one single issue — medicare.

Medicare is important. Republicans have offered a number of bills in that regard. But the President's uncompromising attitude on the administration-backed King-Anderson bill would seem to indicate that he is more interested in having a smoke-screen for his inadequacies than in helping our senior citizens.

The real issue is: Which party most effectively represents economic progress with maximum freedom, and security in a troubled and changing world.

WE MUST move forward, not backward.

We are not moving forward when stock market gyrations indicate an erosion of public confidence unparalleled since 1929—a collapse which could adversely affect our economic and therefore our employment capacity for years to come.

And we cannot move forward with unimaginative, reactionary individuals in charge whose only answers to our problems consist of more and more federal power, more and more federal spending.

It is far too easily forgotten that the money they spend belongs to the American people, and the power they seek is power over the American people.

Their path is not new. It is as old as mankind. It is a path which enlightened men, including the founding fathers of the United States, have throughout history sought to avoid.

And it was the success of our founding fathers, in their pursuit of limited government by the people rather than autocratic government over the people, that has enshrined their names as well as their deeds in the hearts of freemen everywhere.

We cannot now allow the fruits of their labors to be eroded by the manicured mentality of the Kennedys' New Frontier.

THE SENATE Republican Policy Committee has listed 25 administration requests for new federal power and 62 requests for new federal expenditures in this session of Congress alone.

That has been the pattern since Jan. 20, 1961.

The President's attitude towards our economic problems is frequently reminiscent of the impatient parent who hands his child some money in the hope that he and the problem he represents will go away — the difference being that the government, unlike the parent, is only returning money that, at very high cost, it has already taken away.

And where is all this leading us?

It has led into greater unemployment; a larger-than-ever outflow of gold; the highest cost of living in our history; the Armed Forces Reserves being called up on the flimsiest of pretexts; issues such as medicare becoming political footballs.

And the root reason for so much of the trouble — lack of confidence in where the Kennedys are taking us — is only aggravated by this crisis and crash policies.

The President, who as a candidate repeatedly promised to "get America moving again," and was repeatedly critical of unemployment, business failures, gold outflow and lack of leadership, and who said that he would change all this, has, on the record, created the very situation which concerned him.

INDEED, a whole treatise could be done on the broken promises of John F. Kennedy — fiscal responsibility, agriculture, civil rights, depressed areas and on and on.

That President Kennedy is a personable, pleasant, photogenic and publicity-conscious individual cannot be questioned.

But did that help us in Cuba's Bay of Pigs? Did the smile of John F. Kennedy stop the erection of the Berlin Wall?

Will all that glamorous publicity stop the Communists from overrunning Laos? Has it impressed formerly-staunch allies such as Konrad Adenauer and Charles de Gaulle?

John F. Kennedy commenced destruction of American prestige and confidence during his 1960 campaign of fear, doom, and gloom — and has kept at it ever since.

All the public brainwashing meetings, pressure on civil servants, carrot-and-stick techniques on the press, cannot eradicate the fact of the Berlin Wall. And all the handsome Kennedy picture spreads cannot hide the dismal facts of our economy and the loss of both national and international confidence.

These are only some of the reasons why a return of the Republican party to the councils of government is imperative.

THESE ARE only some of the reasons why the Republican party expects to make large gains in the fall congressional elections.

Another is illustrated by the Billie Sol Estes corruption-in-government scandals.

How can the American people be sure of the truth when the party implicated controls not only the White House but the investigative machinery of Congress?

Who is there to stand watch over the greedy and partisanly political operators of the New Frontier?

And who is there with the power, as well as the reason, to inject some sense into our multi-headed arms-behind-the-back foreign policy? — a foreign policy which in Southeast Asia pours arms and men into the front door of Viet Nam, while opening wide the back door in Laos.

We can begin to remedy this mess by electing Republicans to Congress in the fall.

The Democrats know the importance of the fall campaign — they are raising millions through thousand-dollar-a-plate dinners to pile yet more layers of soft-soap propaganda on an already saturated public.

But, for example, in spite of New Frontier glee over the President's handling of the steel price increase, his popularity in the aftermath did not rise, it fell.

The American people will not be fooled. The issues are too clear, Kennedy failures too obvious and the stakes too high.

After Khrushchev?

By Edward Crankshaw

Who Would Take Over In Russia?

LONDON

When Premier Khrushchev felt the heat during his Romanian tour last month and showed signs of exhaustion, people suddenly remembered that he was human, 68, and, in spite of his overwhelming vitality, by no means in perfect health.

Less than 10 years after the death of Stalin they began to wonder: Who, and what, next?

It should be an easy succession. The mood of brooding violence which invested the intrigues of the men who maneuvered for power in the shadow of Stalin has been largely dissipated during the past few years of more open rule. There is even an heir apparent, Frol Kozlov (54). He has not been formally acclaimed, but Mr. Khrushchev has indicated him as his immediate successor, and recently his name has been listed immediately below Khrushchev's own.

But nobody knows very much about Mr. Kozlov except that he is personable in an uncolorful way, and that he must be a good administrator and a man who understands all about the mechanics of power; otherwise he could never have mastered the extremely tricky party machine of Leningrad.

What is not clear is whether Mr. Khrushchev brought him to Moscow to be his deputy simply because he is a loyal and accomplished chief of staff, or because of stronger talents, so far hidden from the public.

IT IS VERY MUCH to be questioned whether Mr. Kozlov will in fact step into his master's shoes. No doubt if Mr. Khrushchev left us tomorrow, Mr. Kozlov would succeed him quite smoothly as first secretary of the Communist party. But it is likely that the actual government would for a time take on the shape of a Regency Council.

Mr. Kozlov would not assume the premiership as well, and he would be supported by a posse of quasi-royal uncles supplying continuity with the pre-Khrushchev era: Anastas I. Mikoyan, Michail A. Suslov, and the industrial and economic planner, Aleksei N. Kosygin. One of these might well become premier.

Such a council, or collective, would not endure forever. Sooner, rather than later, a new personality would emerge to make and break new groupings, in the time-honored Soviet manner, and to bring to the leadership the charismatic glow which, so far, has been an indispensable element in the Russian state idea.

Here the field is wide open. When Stalin died the choice of a successor was limited to the 10 ruling circle. But today, for the first time since 1934, the Soviet Union has a scattering of men of first-rate ability who have already enjoyed great power and, having for one reason or another fallen are still at large.

LEAVING aside the hard core of the "Anti-Party" group (Molotov, Malenkov, Kaganovich), it would be possible to form an alternative government (i.e. an alternative Presidium) composed of men, and one woman, who were lately themselves members, or candidate members, of the Presidium and are now put out to grass. Some of these are more formidable figures than their successors.

This is not to suggest for one moment that the outsiders would, or could, combine to challenge the insiders. Nothing like that would happen. But the very existence of such individuals, all with their own personal followings, all with their heads still on their shoulders, is bound to make for a most interesting fluidity when the time comes, as it will, for a new power struggle.

Such a struggle, indeed, must be in progress at this moment. Mr. Khrushchev is now the generally accepted leader; but there is no reason at all to suppose that the senior party chieftains wil meekly accept for ever the stations to which they are now called. And it is as certain as anything can be that some of those at present inside will for reasons of self-interest, perhaps for reasons of policy, too, have strong ties with some of those at present outside.

THE "AT PRESENT" needs emphasis. Things move very quickly and suddenly in and around the Soviet government. So quickly that it is useless to study the lists and conclude that the latest promotions offer any firm indication of the state of things to come a year from now, let alone five years.

For example, the 22nd party congress last October saw the sudden rise of Ivan V. Spiridonov, Mr. Kozlov's successor at Leningrad, who was elevated to the party secretariat. At the same Alekesi I. Kirilenko, was sent into the wilderness. But in April of this year Spiridonov was down and Kirilenko was up. Nobody knows why.

Going back a little further, until two years ago the tough and enterprising Mr. Kirichenko stood at Khrushchev's right hand. He had been with Khrushchev in the Ukraine. He had succeeded the master as viceroy over 40 millions in the Ukraine when Khrushchev was called to Moscow.

He came to Moscow himself in 1954 to help Khrushchev in his fight wth Malenkov and Molotov.

When that fight was won, he stood on the dizziest height—only to fall (Russians say because he presumed too much) and be relegated to a provincial post. But he is still alive. He still has friends and supporters.

It is unthinkable that a man of his weight, experience and past glory would sit quietly in the provinces through a succession crisis.

THERE ARE others: The brilliant Nuritdin A. Mukhitdinov, still only 45; Nikolai I. Belyaev, made a scapegoat for a harvest failure in the virgin lands; Averky B. Aristov, a pre-Khrushchev era veteran but still only 59, a supreme organization man, responsible once for the development of industry in the Urals and, later, a feared party hatchetman.

All these, and others too, have only lately, and always for reasons unstated, fallen from the heights.

To these should be added the fringe men of the anti-party group, once at the very center of power, notably Mikhail G. Pervukhin and Maxim Z. Saburov, one of the chief planners of the Soviet Union.

At the moment the way seems clear for certain newcomers: Gennad I. Voronov, who last year was brought from the provinces because he had proved to be the only party leader capable of making the agriculture of his region work.

Woronov is 52, but there are others still younger; Kirill T. Mazurov (48) from Byelo-Russia; the Trade Union leader, Victor V. Grishin (48); and Dmitri S. Polyansky (45), and her successful agriculturalist whose rise under Khrushchev has been meteoric. There are the new insiders, who may find themselves out at any time, thus adding to the new fluidity.

THERE STILL ARE others, notably the 54-year-old Nikolai A. Patolichev, regarded as one of the most gifted and important figures in the Soviet Union, who, after a career of obscure ups and downs going back into the Stalinist days, is now minister of foreign trade, without a seat either on the Presidium or the Secretariat, but is clearly a bigger man than a number of his nominal superiors.

Letters To The Editor

Over the past many years our family has drifted away from East Liverpool. Except for periodic visits with our parents, our local contacts have been slight.

The reasons for leaving Liverpool were many. Most of these reasons do not reflect credit on the progressive attitude of the city. The criticisms have been many. To repeat them would not improve the city and would only rehash thoughts already on the minds of thinking citizens.

We recently returned "home" due to the death of our father, Stanley Rose. With sorrow in our hearts and lacking direction, we attempted to plan services and solve a multitude of problems. Chaos was inevitable. Suddenly, with no master plan or guiding force, our parents' neighbors, friends and church took charge.

Food and transportation developed out of nowhere, irritations vanished, problems disappeared. Affection and genuine concern took their place. We were totally embraced by true friends.

The worst of our difficulties are now over. East Liverpool still has its problems. However, there must be hope in any community composed of such fine, loving, generous people. We are truly grateful and appreciative.

No Departure From The Script

Each year when it's time to march up Capitol Hill and back again on the foreign aid issue, they get out a dog-eared script and follow the routine procedure. It never changes.

The White House calls in expert counsel from here, there and everywhere to firm up its request for umpity million dollars' worth of aid to deserving countries. This is the only way to stop communism, the argument runs.

Opposition congressman sniff at the claim that some of the countries deserve to be saved and declare the time has come and gone to ditch foreign aid. They are backed in this stand by editorialists from coast to coast, who write deep-dish pieces about the evolution and devolution of foreign aid, suggesting it's high time something should be done about it etc.

CONGRESSIONAL hearings are held. Dismal evidence that foreign aid is a flop is presented. But in the meantime speeches are being made and articles published in magazines and newspapers to prove that foreign aid has been the Free World's salvation. Highly placed persons and solid congressional witnesses sing its praises. The issue finally comes to a showdown; it is time to vote on it. And when the last page of the dog-eared script has been flipped over, foreign aid has passed again with only minor alterations, most of which will be thrown out when the House and Senate versions go to conference committee.

Why does it always happen the same way? Because foreign aid always has been a talking issue, not an acting issue. It's good politics and good sense to talk about it, to show what's wrong with its administration and demand that things be done better. But in a congressional showdown, the talking issue always gives way to the acting issue.

For its own purposes the United States has been exerting its influence and distributing its surpluses abroad ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt decided to send surplus destroyers to Britain when the Nazis were threatening to invade across the English Channel.

WHEN IT'S time to act, the truth comes out. Even those who vote no are frequently —but secretly—meaning yes.

There has been no departure from the script in 1962. The United States will spend upward of $4.6 billion for foreign aid in the current year. Last January President Kennedy asked for $3.9 billion.

Somehow or other in the marching up and down and the issue-making, another half billion attached itself to the total.

When The Steel Chips Are Down

Sometime this month the U.S. Navy will award a contract for 2,000 tons of carbon steel to build three destroyer-type missile frigates.

The contract will mean work for several hundred American workmen because it will go to U.S. mills, regardless of the fact the low bidders will be West German and Japanese steelmakers. A sensitive policy is involved.

The policy crystallized after criticism of an earlier purchase of 3,500 tons of armor plate for guided missile frigates from West German mills. When Defense Secretary McNamara announced this summer that his department was buying foreign drugs at one-half to one-eighth of their wholesale price here it appeared that the Kennedy administration was continuing the Eisenhower policy of giving business to foreign suppliers whose bids were 6 to 10 per cent lower than the bids of their U.S. competitors.

But the fact steel production has been bumping along at just above 50 per cent capacity dictated a decision not to affront the industry at this time with another government contract to foreign competitors.

According to Steel Magazine, the Navy received 7.4 per cent of its steel needs from abroad in the first 10 months of fiscal 1962—the fiscal year that ended last June 30. Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., asked for presidential intervention on June 28. He rejected a Navy argument that U.S. taxpayers had been saved $153,000 on a 3,000-ton purchase of steel from West Germany. What really had happened, said Sen. Scott, was that American steel workers had failed to receive $382,000 in wages.

This is the traditional argument for protection of U.S. industry—the argument that supposedly is going to be shelved when the United States sets about the leveling of tariff barriers.

The decision to buy American steel regardless of cost will not be disregarded by the trading partners of the United States. To them it will be evidence that the United States has not really changed its mind about protectionism. But in truth the Kennedy administration had no choice. Several hundred thousand jobs might exist throughout the steel industry if the United States could go back to being an exporter of steel, instead of an importer. For the past three years imports of steel have exceeded exports.

Dear Nephew: You knew darned well what I wanted when I asked for French postcards. When we got pictures of the statuary at Versailles your Aunt Effie almost laughed herself into the hospital. The pictures weren't even of the opposite sex in all cases.

Do you suppose people formerly looked like that? Are we changing the lines of homo sapiens? I am referring particularly to the ladies. There isn't one of those babes who wouldn't be on a crash reducing diet today, trying to slim down.

We did enjoy your letters, even if your postcards left something to be desired. . . shall we say? We never knew before that the British are pushovers for artificial flowers and we would be too if ours looked as real as theirs do; that their young girls look like floosies because they use too much makeup and not enough material at the bottoms of their skirts;

That there are no screen doors or window screens in the United Kingdom; that front doors are painted bright colors and many householders cover them with cloth drapes to protect them from the sun;

That summer daylight is almost continuous in Edinburgh because it's farther north than Newfoundland; that Queen Elizabeth draws no cheers in Scotland despite the fact her mother is a Scot and her husband is the Duke of Edinburgh; that there are still pill boxes in evidence, built to resist the Nazi invasion that never occurred;

That British girls have good-looking legs (trust you to take note of that) and this may be the result of much walking and bike riding; that crash helmets are compulsory for motorcyclists; that coffee over there has gone from too weak to too strong as the result of universal use of instant coffee;

That warm beer and warm whisky are tastier than their chilled versions in the United States; that American-made cars are almost never used because they would be unwieldy on sharp turns and in narrow streets; that British bobbies are young and handsome and no one knows what happens to the old ones that get fat and ugly;

That the Rolls Royce Princess sedans used to show off royalty make our ceremonial cars look like compacts; that the U.S. Navy's Calcaterra and the Coast Guard cutters Absecon and Yakutat, also the Coast Guard training ship Eagle, a sailing vessel, were in Edinburgh on Independence Day and you went all the way to the docks to wish your countrymen a happy day;

Also that you felt like a Tory that day for taking off your hat when the Queen went by because Scotsmen just stared at the lady and showed no respect; also that bagpipes never were intended to be heard at close range but from the hills far away;

Also that you'd better know that high tea in Scotland is supper and the big meal is lunch or you'll go to bed hungry; also that in first-class restaurants and hostelries you drink coffee after the meal in the lounge, never at the table;

Also that service station people, who frequently are women, never clean the "windscreen" except by request and then are so indifferent about it you might as well have spit on it and cleaned it yourself; plus the fact they hide the spare tire on an Austin Cambridge so cleverly you had to collar an expert to tell you where it was;

And plus the astonishing information that there are no fireplugs in British towns — nothing but signs telling firemen where to find water connections underground but the mail boxes look like giant red fireplugs so it all comes out even.

In your case, travel was not only broadening; it flattened you. We marvel at the amount of trivia that stuck to you. Regards to the folks.

Air Archeologists

Archeologists, who traditionally work on their knees in dirt, are taking to the air for a fresh and profitable look at buried civilizations of the past.

Airborne archeologists have learned that when man disturbs the ground to build cities or plow fields, soil marks remain century after century.

High-altitude pictures give a comprehensive view of an ancient community—its agriculture, roads, buildings and forticiations.

Aerial pictures of a field in southwest England, for example, show minute patches of rich vegetation. Here the wooden columns of a Bronze Age sanctuary decayed, enriching the soil.

Ditches that surrounded Neolithic settlements in Italy have long since been filled, yet the 4,000-year-old pattern is still visible from the air.

In North Africa, airborne archeologists have located the outer fortifications of Carthage.

Near Italy's Adriatic Coast, a single aerial photograph shows the superimposed outlines of round Stone-Age huts, the square plots of an ancient Roman farm and the irregular foundations of a 13th-century village and manor of Emperor Frederick the Second.

This And That

Flying squirrels do not really fly. They glide for long distances from high points to the ground by means of the extensivle skin which spreads out like a plane's wings from the forefeet to the hind feet.

The lecture circuit enjoys a big popularity in the United States. According to latest figures, there are about 504 individual lecturers heard throughout America each year during the annual October-to-June lecture season.

Takes Two To Make A Bargain

GOP Leader Hits Kennedy Record

By William E. Miller

Rep. William E. Miller, chairman of the Republican National Committee, was invited by Victor Riesel to be a guest columnist. In the following article, Rep. Miller tells what he thinks of the Democratic party..

The challenge of the '60s cannot be met by an administratiionn still living in the '30s, implementing policies which failed then and are failing now.

Nor can they be met by an administration seeking to cover up its failure through domination of this year's congressional campaign with one single issue — medicare.

Medicare is important. Republicans have offered a number of bills in that regard. But the President's uncompromising attitude on the administration-backed King-Anderson bill would seem to indicate that he is more interested in having a smoke-screen for his inadequacies than in helping our senior citizens.

The real issue is: Which party most effectively represents economic progress with maximum freedom, and security in a troubled and changing world.

WE MUST move forward, not backward.

We are not moving forward when stock market gyrations indicate an erosion of public confidence unparalleled since 1929—a collapse which could adversely affect our economic and therefore our employment capacity for years to come.

And it is as certain as anything can be that some of those at present inside will for reasons of self-interest, perhaps for reasons of policy, too, have strong ties with some of those at present outside.

THE "AT PRESENT" needs emphasis. Things move very quickly and suddenly in and around the Soviet government. So quickly that it is useless to study the lists and conclude that the latest promotions offer any firm indication of the state of things to come a year from now, let alone five years.

For example, the 22nd party congress last October saw the sudden rise of Ivan V. Spiridonov, Mr. Kozlov's successor at Leningrad, who was elevated to the party secretariat. At the same Alekesi I. Kirilenko, was sent into the wilderness. But in April of this year Spiridonov was down and Kirilenko was up. Nobody knows why.

Going back a little further, until two years ago the tough and enterprising Mr. Kirichenko stood at Khrushchev's right hand. He had been with Khrushchev in the Ukraine. He had succeeded the master as viceroy over 40 millions in the Ukraine when Khrushchev was called to Moscow.

He came to Moscow himself in 1954 to help Khrushchev in his fight wth Malenkov and Molotov.

When that fight was won, he stood on the dizziest height—only to fall (Russians say because he presumed too much) and be relegated to a provincial post. But he is still alive. He still has friends and supporters.

It is unthinkable that a man of his weight, experience and past glory would sit quietly in the provinces through a succession crisis.

THERE ARE others: The brilliant Nuritdin A. Mukhitdinov, still only 45; Nikolai I. Belyaev, made a scapegoat for a harvest failure in the virgin lands; Averky B. Aristov, a pre-Khrushchev era veteran but still only 59, a supreme organization man, responsible once for the development of industry in the Urals and, later, a feared party hatchetman.

All these, and others too, have only lately, and always for reasons unstated, fallen from the heights.

To these should be added the fringe men of the anti-party group, once at the very center of power, notably Mikhail G. Pervukhin and Maxim Z. Saburov, one of the chief planners of the Soviet Union.

At the moment the way seems clear for certain newcomers: Gennad I. Voronov, who last year was brought from the provinces because he had proved to be the only party leader capable of making the agriculture of his region work.

Woronov is 52, but there are others still younger; Kirill T. Mazurov (48) from Byelo-Russia; the Trade Union leader, Victor V. Grishin (48); and Dmitri S. Polyansky (45), and her successful agriculturalist whose rise under Khrushchev has been meteoric. There are the new insiders, who may find themselves out at any time, thus adding to the new fluidity.

THERE STILL ARE others, notably the 54-year-old Nikolai A. Patolichev, regarded as one of the most gifted and important figures in the Soviet Union, who, after a career of obscure ups and downs going back into the Stalinist days, is now minister of foreign trade, without a seat either on the Presidium or the Secretariat, but is clearly a bigger man than a number of his nominal superiors.

Letters To The Editor

Over the past many years our family has drifted away from East Liverpool. Except for periodic visits with our parents, our local contacts have been slight.

The reasons for leaving Liverpool were many. Most of these reasons do not reflect credit on the progressive attitude of the city. The criticisms have been many. To repeat them would not improve the city and would only rehash thoughts already on the minds of thinking citizens.

We recently returned "home" due to the death of our father, Stanley Rose. With sorrow in our hearts and lacking direction, we attempted to plan services and solve a multitude of problems. Chaos was inevitable. Suddenly, with no master plan or guiding force, our parents' neighbors, friends and church took charge.

Food and transportation developed out of nowhere, irritations vanished, problems disappeared. Affection and genuine concern took their place. We were totally embraced by true friends.

The worst of our difficulties are now over. East Liverpool still has its problems. However, there must be hope in any community composed of such fine, loving, generous people. We are truly grateful and appreciative.

Drivers Cited In 2 Weekend Auto Mishaps

Two motorists were cited by East Liverpool police in a pair of the six mishaps that marred weekend traffic.

Clyde Cunningham, 67, of 1010 Florence St., was charged with leaving the scene of an accident following a collision Sunday at 11:52 p.m. on Smith St. near Lincoln Ave. that damaged his auto and two parked cars.

Officers said the crash damaged the right front of Cunningham's 1957 sedan, the left rear of a parked 1962 convertible owned by James Pollock, 675 Lincoln Ave., and the left rear of a parked 1958 model truck owned by Henry and Clifford Stone, 1443 Main St., Wellsville.

Cunningham told police he hit the rear of Pollock's auto as he turned onto Smith St. from Lincoln Ave.

Cunningham, who had posted a $32.50 bond following his arrest on Webber Way 17 minutes after the accident, failed to appear in Municipal Court today.

Unable to ascertain what damages were caused, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff delayed any action until he could check with police. If there was serious damage, the judge indicated he might forfeit the bond and issue a bench warrant for Cunningham's arrest.

A charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance was filed against Donald Starkey, 47, of Westfield following a collision on Dresden Ave. near W. 9th St. Saturday at 5:38 p.m.

Police said Starkey's 1955 sedan hit the rear of a 1960 sedan operated by Willard S. Foster, 20, of Enon Valley, Pa., which was halted. Starkey told officers he took his eyes away from traffic for a moment, causing him to hit Foster's auto.

Starkey, who pleaded guilty, was fined $15 and costs today by Judge Chertoff.

A 1961 station wagon driven by Paul Headley, 49, of Buckhannon, W. Va., and a 1953 auto operated by Donald Wilson of Pasadena, Calif., were involved in a mishap Saturday at 11:46 p.m. on Broadway at St. Clair Ave., police said. There was a small dent in the right rear of Headley's car, while Wilson's auto was undamaged, police said.

A mishap Saturday at 9:55 a. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Mulberry St. involved a 1958 car driven by Vincent L. Maola Jr., 27, of 1512 Etruria St. and a 1958 sedan operated by Margaret Simballa, 23, of Lisbon St., officers said.

Maola told police he halted to pick up a hitchhiker when his car was hit from the rear. The bumper of Maola's car was damaged, but there was no damage to the Simballa car, police said.

A 1960 coupe operated by Robert M. Fabro, 28, of 901 Grant St., Newell, and a 1960 sedan driven by Louis Ehlenbach, 59, of McCormick Rd., Wellsville, were damaged in a mishap at Market St. and Drury Ln. at 10:55 a. m. Saturday, police said.

A collision at Dresden Ave. and W. 6th St. Saturday at 11:24 a.m. involved a 1961 four-door sedan driven by Vincent A. Crucotti, 44, of Shadyside in Belmont County and a 1952 sedan driven by Steve Skrinyer of Weirton, officers said. There was slight damage to Crucotti's car, while Skrinyer's auto was undamaged, police said.

Man Nabbed After Wife's Hit With Gun

East Liverpool police jailed a man early Sunday after a domestic quarrel at his home in which he allegedly struck his wife several times on the head with a .22 caliber revolver.

John W. Morris, 214 Peach Alley, was pursued and nabbed by one of the officers and the gun later was found concealed in an empty milk carton in the Morris' home, police said.

Patrolmen Ronald J. Brookes and Jack Strobel were dispatched to the Morris home after an unidentified neighbor reported a disturbance. When they knocked at the door, the officers said, Morris shouted that: "Whoever that is, you will go out feet first!"

As Morris came toward the door, the officers could see he was carrying a revolver, they reported. When he saw the men outside were police, Morris turned and moved toward the rear of the house, police said. Mrs. Morris opened the front door to admit Officer Strobel, who passed the house and nabbed Morris outside in Center Alley, police said.

Questioned about the gun, Morris denied that he owned a weapon, police said. Officer Stroble said he found the revolver in an empty milk carton.

Morris, a diabetic who had been held on a suspicious person charge, was released this morning in custody of a brother by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff to re-enter a veteran's hospital near Clarksburg, W. Va.

The judge originally had set a hearing for Wednesday morning pending filing of formal charges, but then ordered the release after conferring with relatives. The judge ordered his gun confiscated.

Noted Organist Taken

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Edwin Arthur Kraft, 79, nationally known organist who served Trinity Cathedral of the Episcopal Church for more than 50 years, died Sunday after a heart attack. Widely honored for his organ work, Dr. Kraft arranged some 200 numbers for organ and vocal groups from piano and orchestral scores.

Officers Cite Leetonia Man After Mishap

A Leetonia driver was cited on two charges in one of nine district traffic mishaps investigated over the weekend by the Lisbon State Highway Patrol.

Officers reported three persons injured, none seriously, in the crashes Saturday and Sunday.

Fred Cozza, 51, of Leetonia Route 1 was cited on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and leaving the scene of an accident in a two-car crash Saturday at 11:30 p. m. about four miles south of Leetonia.

The patrol said Cozza's northbound car and auto operated by Paul William Conrad Jr., 17, of Leetonia, sideswiped on County Rd. 416. Conrad was drivng south.

A Harrison County woman was cited in a three-car mishap Sunday at 7:30 p. m. on Route 644 in Kensington.

Helen Ankeny, 29, of New Rumley was cited after she pulled her parked car into the car of Sam Frazier, 44, of Kensington Route 1, knocking Frazier's car into the southbound car of Lawrence Beadnell, 64, of Kensington. Officers said the woman was cited for starting from a parked position without exercising care.

Ralph Miller, 40, of Sebring was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his car struck the car of Dick Spano, 49, of Salem Saturday at 2:50 p. m. on Route 62 west of Salem.

Spano was slowing for traffic ahead when his car was struck in the rear. A passenger, Hettie Spano, 39, received a whiplash injury of the neck and was treated at Salem City Hospital. Both drivers were headed west.

Pearl H. Cale, 26, of Niles was cited on a charge of unsafe operation after he failed to negotiate a curve on Township Rd. 901 south of Elkton and his car overturned Saturday at 2 a. m. He suffered a fractured collarbone.

Damage was minor in an accident involving cars operated by Joseph Norkus, 65, of Salem Route 3 and Carmen J. Ferry, 36, of Leetonia Saturday at 4:35 p. m. on Route 558 east of Salem. The patrol said Norkus, preparing to make a left turn, let his car drift backwards into Ferry's car, which was coming from the opposite direction.

Cars driven by Thomas L. Shafer, 66, of Negley, and Harry W. Riddle, 23, of East Palestine, sideswiped on a curve Saturday at 5:35 p. m. on Township Rd. 1021, south of East Palestine. There was moderate damage.

A car driven by Bryan Phillips, 34, of Hanoverton Route 1, struck the rear of a stock car racer being towed by Russell Ryman, 25, of Salem Sunday at 4 a. m. on Route 62 near the Stark County line.

A passenger in Phillips' car, Dorothy Phillips, received a bump on the head and was treated at Alliance City Hospital. There was minor damage to the cars, officers reported.

Officers reported a car operated by Harvey Tullis, 24, of Salem Route 2 went off the right side of Route 9 south of Salem and struck an embankment today at 1:15 a. m.

Lima Police Eye Slowdown Move

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Local police, threatening a "slow down" unless they get more money, are sending a delegation to a meeting of city council tonight.

Council is slated to act on the officers' request for a nearly $700 annual pay boost which they claim would put their salaries in line with other cities of comparable size.

The officers are to get a 5 per cent boost Jan. 1, but they say this is not enough. Their present salary is $4,912 and with the increases will go to $5,152. They are demanding $5,700.

Acting Mayor Homer Cooper has called the demand irresponsible and said he would seek to have some members of the force suspended.

Good Will Tour Planned For New Miss Universe

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Miss Universe could have danced all night, but she didn't. She had to be in her room at 1 a. m. today.

Norma Beateiz Nolan, the 24-year-old brunette model from Argentina who has never had a date without a chaperone, formally opened her reign at the coronation ball Sunday night in Miami Beach's swank Fontainebleau Hotel.

She had a date—and more than 1,000 escorts—at the ball, including consular officials from the 50 nations represented at the week-long pageant.

The smoky-eyed brunette dazzled the glittering crowd in a white evening gown that clung to her 35-25-36 figure, and a new white fur that cost the pageant $10,000.

"I don't know what nations I shall visit," said Miss Nolan. "I'm going to try in all of them to do everything possible to promote international friendship."

After she was crowned Saturday night before a nationwide television audience, she kept saying, "I don't know why I won. Those other girls were so beautiful."

Miss Nolan said she planned to splurge part of her $5,000 prize money for clothes. Paris and Rome are the cities she looks forward to visiting — to look at clothes.

"I don't want movie contracts," she said. "I like to travel."

Hearing Planned For Wednesday In Check Charge

A Virginian, arraigned this morning in Municipal Court on a charge of forging a $25 check, received a continuance until Wednesday at 9 a. m.

Bond for Ray Eugene Carroll of Newport News was set at $500 by Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. Carroll did not enter a plea.

Asst. Solicitor Richard Clark was unable to attend police court this morning because of a trial in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon, so the continuance was granted to permit drawing up the formal charge.

Carroll was taken into custody Saturday night on E. 2nd St. by Police Capt. R. H. Pyle and Patrolman C. E. (Bill) Tice, Capt. Pyle said Carroll forged a $25 check on Bloor's Pharmacy Saturday.

The Virginian, who has served time on a previous forgery charge, had forged another check but it was caught by a bank before being cashed, Capt. Pyle said.

Carroll has been living temporarily on lower Broadway, he added.

Meters Awaited At City's New Lot

City officials kept their fingers crossed today, hoping for the arrival of 40 parking meters for the new municipal parking lot on the site of the former Ceramic Theater.

Safety-Service Director Robert Owen said he learned over the weekend the meters from the M. H. Rhodes Co. of Hartford, Conn., had been shipped by motor freight to Akron for re-shipment here.

The director said the meters originally were scheduled to be shipped a week ago. Then he was advised that the shipment left Hartford last Wednesday.

Meanwhile, he urged motorists using the lot to park their cars facing the meters, explaining the rear overhang on autos will damage meter standards if motorists back into the parking spaces.

Stop 9 Fire Damages Transit Cement Mixer

Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 was called today at 8:55 a. m. to Stop 9, when a transit cement mixer truck of the Parsons Coal Co. caught fire.

Damage was reported to the interior of the cab and the wiring under the hood. The gasoline tank was reported on fire, but it did not explode, police said. The fire was believed caused by a short circuit.

Donald R. Taylor, 220 W. 2nd St., was the driver.

Car's Plunge Hurts Woman

A 29-year-old waitress was injured, not seriously, in one of two traffic mishaps investigated over the weekend by Hancock County sheriff's deputies.

Dora Manley, employed at Johnny's Place between New Cumberland and Weirton, suffered a bruised right arm when she lost control of her car and it went over an embankment into a garden.

Deputies said the woman was operating a 1958 sedan owned by Thomas VanDerSluis of Jersey City, N. J. The mishap occurred Sunday at 8 a. m. on Wiley Ridge Rd., south of New Cumberland.

The sheriff's office said the waitress, who apparently was driving at a high rate of speed, was cited on charges of driving without a license and hazardous driving.

She posted a $60 bond for a hearing tonight before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland. VanDerSluis posted $33 bond for a hearing tonight on a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car.

In a mishap Saturday at 2:45 p. m. on Route 30 near Chester, a 1962 model sedan operated by John Downey, 41, of Bedford skidded off the left side of the highway, struck an embankment and upset when the driver attempted to avoid striking a dog on the road. Deputies estimated damage at $1,500.

Lennens Takes Over Chester Chief's Post

Without any formal changeover ceremony, Patrolman Clarence Lennens assumed his duties as Chester's new police chief Sunday midnight and Frank Fetty became a new patrolman.

Lennens succeeds Harold Davis and Fetty takes over Lennen's vacated post. Council hired both at its July 5 meeting.

Lennens, 34, has been an officer since 1960. Fetty, 25, of 325 Indiana Ave., is an Army veteran.

All other city employes were retained by Council July 5 in appointments extending for 90 days to give Council an opportunity to reconsider the posts for the remainder of the 1962-1963 term.

'Big Cat' Seen On Prowl At Smiths Ferry

An animal believed to be a cat or lynx, weighing 40 to 50 pounds, was sighted Saturday and Sunday evenings in the Smiths Ferry area by several residents, Ohioville Police Chief Bernard Zlatovich reported.

The "cat," said to be about four feet long, including a two-foot tail, was first seen Saturday evening before dark on property of C. E. Chaffee off Wilson Hill Rd.

Three relatives, Guy Jameson, 719 Avondale St., East Liverpool, R. E. Wentworth of Glenmoor, and C. W. Rudolph, an Air Force captain from Austin, Tex., saw the animal, along with Chaffee.

According to Mrs. Chaffee, Jameson was the first to spot the cat. The men said it looked like a dog at first until they took a step toward it and the animal turned and disappeared.

The men reported it appeared light gray or tan and stands about 16 to 18 inches high. A couple of them who had lived on farms said it was not a bobcat. Zlatovich and his brother, Mitch Zlatovich, arrived with a dog, but it was too dry for it to pick up the trail. Two other men also were at the scene.

Police said the cat was reported seen again Sunday evening at Smiths Ferry on the hill above Kenny Miller's service station on Route 68 by Roderick Harrelson of Smiths Ferry. He said it was a yellowish brown.

Valuable Find

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Martha Hill was pleased with her find at the white elephant table of the Schenley Road Community Center. It was a recording made in 1903 by the famous operatic tenor, Enrico Caruso, and cost her only 10 cents. The record sold for $2 when new, and is now worth considerably more, of course, as a collector's item.

The boy jumped out as the car began to move, but the girl stayed in. Her father and other men tried to stop the auto and shouted warnings to the picnickers downhill. Deputy Gray said the car rolled 50 or 60 yards.

Whinery's was the scene of another scare from a similar accident shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday. The sheriff's office gave this version:

Mrs. Emmett Pelley Jr. of 18th St. Heights, Wellsville, was taking their daughter, Roxan, 2½, from their parked car when they accidentally bumped the gear selector and the car began to roll.

The child fell to the ground and the mother believed the wheel ran over her. Mr. and Mrs. Pelley stopped at State Highway Patrol Post near Lisbon for help to get her to East Liverpool quickly. Roxan was examined by a physician and found unharmed, the sheriff's office said.

mayor of Cleveland in 1953 and returned to office in 1955, 1957, 1959 and 1961. In winning a fifth term, Celebrezze got a 73.8 per cent plurality and carried every ward in the city.

He was born in Anzi, Italy, of naturalized U.S. citizens and is believed to be the first Italian-American chosen for the Cabinet. If he is approved by the Senate he will become the second Roman Catholic in Kennedy's Cabinet. The other is the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Ribicoff, former governor of Connecticut, quit the health, education and welfare post Thursday to campaign for the Democratic Senate nomination in his state.

Special Election Seen For Cleveland Mayor

CLEVELAND (AP) — The appointment of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze a secretary of health, education and welfare has created some confusion here as to when and how a new mayor will be chosen.

Part of the confusion arises from two conflicting sections of the city charter. One section provides for nonpartisan primaries to nominate candidates for a vacancy in the office of mayor. The other, as amended a few years ago, provides for party primaries.

Ray C. Miller, clerk of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections, calls the situation hopelessly confused, but he hopes a special election will not be necessary.

Ray T. Miller, County Democratic chairman and no relation to the board clerk, think special elections will have to be held and that the primary must be partisan. Republican leaders agree with the Democratic chairman, and this apparently is the way the election board will rule. However, the board clerk thinks the matter could wind up in court.

Actually there is no vacancy yet. The mayor, appointed to the cabinet Saturday by President Kennedy, has indicated he will not resign until his appointment has been confirmed by the Senate. City Law Director Ralph S. Locher automatically becomes mayor after Celebrezze resigns and will fill the vacancy until a new mayor is elected and takes office.

Married On Pennies

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — "My girl and I have been saving our pennies for a long time," said the prospective bridegroom who appeared with his fiancee in the county clerk office. With that, the young man plunked down 200 pennies for a marriage license.

Officer

Clendenning at first insisted that the metal was his property, which he had stored in the basement of the building, police said. The officer took the two to headquarters for questioning. John E Hall, operator of the plumbing concern, was called. He identified the metal as his property, police said.

After about two hours' questioning by Lt. McDaniel, the two admitted the burglary and signed confessions, police said.

Entry was gained by removing some boards in a stairwell. One of the men crawled through the opening, then let the other in through a door, police said. The metal was carried out through the doorway, which then was closed, officers said.

The men said after gaining entrance to the place they went to W. 4th St. and obtained a car to haul away the loot, parking it on the city lot. After carrying some of the metal out of the building, they decided that the burdens were too heavy to be toted such a distance, so they moved the car to the spot back of the Election Board, closer to the warehouse.

In the confessions, the two admitted that they stole a quantity of scrap wire from the basement of the building about a month ago, selling it to a junk dealer, officers said.

When arraigned before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning, Moore was represented by Atty. George Aronson, who asked a continuance to prepare the defense.

Atty. Aronson asked the court for a minimum bond for Moore, declaring it was his first offense.

Judge Chertoff set hearings for both Moore and Clendenning at 9 a. m. Wednesday and set their bonds at $500.

The boy jumped out as the car began to move, but the girl stayed in. Her father and other men tried to stop the auto and shouted warnings to the picnickers downhill. Deputy Gray said the car rolled 50 or 60 yards.

mayor of Cleveland in 1953 and returned to office in 1955, 1957, 1959 and 1961. In winning a fifth term, Celebrezze got a 73.8 per cent plurality and carried every ward in the city.

He was born in Anzi, Italy, of naturalized U.S. citizens and is believed to be the first Italian-American chosen for the Cabinet. If he is approved by the Senate he will become the second Roman Catholic in Kennedy's Cabinet. The other is the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Ribicoff, former governor of Connecticut, quit the health, education and welfare post Thursday to campaign for the Democratic Senate nomination in his state.

Special Election Seen For Cleveland Mayor

CLEVELAND (AP) — The appointment of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze a secretary of health, education and welfare has created some confusion here as to when and how a new mayor will be chosen.

Part of the confusion arises from two conflicting sections of the city charter. One section provides for nonpartisan primaries to nominate candidates for a vacancy in the office of mayor. The other, as amended a few years ago, provides for party primaries.

Ray C. Miller, clerk of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections, calls the situation hopelessly confused, but he hopes a special election will not be necessary.

Ray T. Miller, County Democratic chairman and no relation to the board clerk, think special elections will have to be held and that the primary must be partisan. Republican leaders agree with the Democratic chairman, and this apparently is the way the election board will rule. However, the board clerk thinks the matter could wind up in court.

Actually there is no vacancy yet. The mayor, appointed to the cabinet Saturday by President Kennedy, has indicated he will not resign until his appointment has been confirmed by the Senate. Widow Of Talbott Plunges To Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Talbott, socialite widow of Harold E. Talbott, secretary of the Air Force in the Eisenhower administration, plunged 12 stories to her death Sunday from a bedroom window of her Manhattan apartment.

Mrs. Talbott, 62, left five notes, police said. Four were addressed to servants. The fifth, apparently to her family, told of her continuing depression over the death of her husband five years ago.

Talbott, 68, died March 2, 1957, in Palm Beach, Fla., of a cerebral hemorrhage. He served as Air Force secretary under President Dwight D. Eisenhower from 1953 to 1955, when he resigned following a Senate probe into his private business affairs.

Mrs. Talbott's body, clad in negligee and a house coat, was found in a rear courtyard shortly after dawn.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: My invitation to "Army Wives" to answer "Spinning Head" was accepted by women who married into all branches of the armed services.

The question asked was, "Is the life of an Army wife hell? My mother says if I marry a man who makes the service his career I'll regret it." Here is what the readers had to say.

From Lexington, Ky.: I married a Marine sergeant when I was 18. I battled hurricanes, mosquitoes, and worst of all, loneliness. My husband was in Korea when our son was born. Yesterday I celebrated our 12th wedding anniversary—alone. My husband is in Okinawa. But he'll be home soon and then what a reunion we'll have! I have no complaints. God has given me strength and courage. I married the man I love and no matter what the future holds I can face it.—NO REGRETS.

Rags And Riches

From Little Rock, Ark.; I married my man 17 years ago. We've lived in a converted barracks and in plus quarters. We've had fabulous overseas assignments and we've been stuck in some frightful holes. We've traveled in bucket-seat planes and on the Uncle's expense. Our children are healthy and bright and well adjusted. I wouldn't trade a million dollars for the last 17 years of my life. —HAPPY J.

-:-

From Chicago: Tell Spinning not to do it! If I had known what I was getting into I never would have married the guy. The pay is small for a non-com and unless you kiss somebody's feet you never get anywhere. Only two more years of this nonsense and then, thank God, we can live like human beings! BELLY FULL.

Best Schooling

From Louisville, Ky: I'm an army brat, age 17. Our family has been places and seen things that civilians only dream about. Overseas schools are challenging and Army schools in the United States are tops (especially the one in Fort Knox). I feel privileged to have been born into an army family.LUCKY.

-:-

From Denver: We spent 29 years in the service and it was fabulous. Our daughter started school in China, was graduated from a Panamanian high school, made Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Colorado and is now getting a Ph D in London. Our son was graduated from Georgia Tech as a civil engineer at 18 years of age. I can't imagine a more wholesome or stimulating life than ours.—G.K.

-:-

From Mexico, Mo: My husband belonged to the 49th Armored Division. We were married only three weeks when he was called as a reserve officer. My parents warned me that it might happen, and it did. But I'm not sorry. It's a wife's job to stay by her husband's side no matter what. —JOE'S WIFE.

-:-

From Richmond, Va.: My husband is attached to a Polaris submarine and is away from home seven months out of the year. My relatives have hinted that it's remarkable I'm not alcoholic. This is ridiculous! Scores of men return nightly to find their wives plastered. A woman who hasn't the maturity to be married to a career service man couldn't make it married to a mailman or a plumber.—K.P.

Dissenter

From San Bernardino, Calif.: Spinning's mother is right. I've been an Army wife for 17 years and I wish I'd have listened to my mother. No group can match the Army when it comes to boozing, cheating and general hell-raising. Most army officers I've met would be pumping gas in Spongecake, Idaho, if a war hadn't come along and made them big men.—SMART - TOO-LATE.

-:-

From Lincoln, Neb.: My husband is with the Strategic Air Command. "Peace is our Profession" is our motto. No job is more important today than preserving peace. It's a privilege to be married to a man whose life is so closely involved in the protection of the greatest country in the world.—EDYTHE C.

Rain's Threat Cuts Crowds For Carnival

Threat of showers curtailed attendance at the opening night of the annual benefit carnival of the Newell volunteer fire department Saturday night at Clark Field.

Several hundred were present for a concert of the Wells High School Band and for games and concessions operated by civic organizations.

An amusement company hired for the carnival was late in setting up rides and none were available Saturday. However, six rides and amusements will be in operation tonight and throughout the week, firemen reported.

Tonight's special entertainment features a performance at 7:30 at the carnival grounds by barbershop singers from East Liverpool.

A kiddie parade is slated Tuesday night at 6:30, forming at 4th and Washington Sts. and moving to Clark Field for judging.

Prizes will be awarded to youngsters for the best costumes, best decorated bicycles and best pets. Judges are John Larry Clark, high school band director, and Miss Betty Ruben, president of the Newell Women's Club. Free lollypops will be given to each youngster in the parade.

Donny Gillespie's string band will play Wednesday night at 7:30, and Nila Jo Bailey will entertain with pantomime acts Thursday night.

The big fireman's parade will be held Friday night at 7, forming at 6th and Grant Sts. and moving on Washington St. to the carnival grounds.

The Grant District Burial Squad will lead the marchers. Entries thus far include the Wells High School Band, Wellsville High School band, Chester High School Band, the drill squad of Wellsville VFW Post 9285, Ohio champions, the Jean-ettes of East Palestine, Tone-ettes of Yorkville and marching units of young girls from West Point and the Wellsville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Readers: My invitation to "Army Wives" to answer "Spinning Head" was accepted by women who married into all branches of the armed services.

The question asked was, "Is the life of an Army wife hell? My mother says if I marry a man who makes the service his career I'll regret it." Here is what the readers had to say.

From Lexington, Ky.: I married a Marine sergeant when I was 18. I battled hurricanes, mosquitoes, and worst of all, loneliness. My husband was in Korea when our son was born. Yesterday I celebrated our 12th wedding anniversary—alone. My husband is in Okinawa. But he'll be home soon and then what a reunion we'll have! I have no complaints. God has given me strength and courage. I married the man I love and no matter what the future holds I can face it.—NO REGRETS.

Rags And Riches

From Little Rock, Ark.: I married my man 17 years ago. We've lived in a converted barracks and in plus quarters. We've had fabulous overseas assignments and we've been stuck in some frightful holes. We've traveled in bucket-seat planes and on the Uncle's expense. Our children are healthy and bright and well adjusted. I wouldn't trade a million dollars for the last 17 years of my life. —HAPPY J.

-:-

From Chicago: Tell Spinning not to do it! If I had known what I was getting into I never would have married the guy. The pay is small for a non-com and unless you kiss somebody's feet you never get anywhere. Only two more years of this nonsense and then, thank God, we can live like human beings! BELLY FULL.

Best Schooling

From Louisville, Ky: I'm an army brat, age 17. Our family has been places and seen things that civilians only dream about. Overseas schools are challenging and Army schools in the United States are tops (especially the one in Fort Knox). I feel privileged to have been born into an army family.LUCKY.

-:-

From Denver: We spent 29 years in the service and it was fabulous. Our daughter started school in China, was graduated from a Panamanian high school, made Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Colorado and is now getting a Ph D in London. Our son was graduated from Georgia Tech as a civil engineer at 18 years of age. I can't imagine a more wholesome or stimulating life than ours.—G.K.

Ashcroft Signs Bonus For $5,000-$10,000 With Twins

Will Report To Florida Next March

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Rich Ashcroft of Hookstown, a hard-hitting first baseman, Sunday was signed by the Minnesota Twins for a handsome bonus of between $5,000 and $10,000.

The signing by the American League club came after several other major league teams sought the services of the 19-year-old Ashcroft. Among them were the Cleveland Indians, New York Mets, Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles.

By inking the contract, Rich becomes the second district youth in as many years to sign with the Minnesota team. Bernie Allen was signed for a $50,000 bonus in East Liverpool a year ago and is now the regular second baseman for the Twins.

ASHCROFT was signed at his home Sunday afternoon by Ray Holton, divisional scout for the Twins from Louisville, Ky., and Bob Campbell of East Liverpool, a veteran City League player and manager now representing the Twins in this area.

Ashcroft has been assigned to the Twins' Ft. Walton Beach (Fla.) team, a Class D club in the Florida State League but will not report until next March. At that time he will be placed in the Twins Minor League system depending on his improvement in spring training.

He has been handling the first base duties for the East Liverpool Merchants in the County City League team and the J & L Steel nine in the Greater Aliquippa Community League and is hitting well over .300 in both circuits. He bats and throws left handed.

IN SEPTEMBER, Ashcroft will return to the University of Wichita, where he will be a junior. He plans to complete one semester during the winter before heading to spring training.

The versatile athlete, who broke every scoring record in basketball at South Side High School, was a regular halfback in football as a sophomore last season at Wichita but will be ineligible for football now after signing the professional baseball contract.

At South Side High, Ashcroft excelled in football, basketball and baseball.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashcroft and is the oldest of four boys in the family.

MONDAY, JULY 16, 1962 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 10

RAY HOLTON (right), divisional scout for the Minnesota Twins, points to the dotted line as hard-hitting Rich Ashcroft of Hookstown signed a professional baseball contract with the Minnesota Twins at his home Sunday. The bonus was reported to be between $5,000 and $10,000. Witnessing the signing is Rich's father (left) and Bob Campbell of East Liverpool, representing the Twins in this area.

Indians Dropped Into Third Place

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe—just maybe, mind you—this time it's for real.

The New York Yankees, who were supposed to run away and hide from the rest of the American League, have been in and out of first place on 10 separate occasions this season.

About half the times they were in, the perennial champions made mildly threatening gestures, and the experts proclaimed "This is it. Just like we said, Now they'll move."

Each time, however, it proved to be a false start. The league rallied, or injury struck, or the Yankees suddenly started acting like any other ball club. The result has been one of the closest American League races in history.

Well, they're in again and making those threatening gestures—only this time they may not be such mild motions. Maybe, just maybe, this time it's for real.

The Yanks pounced on Kansas City's thin pitching for 26 hits, including 10 home runs, Sunday in sweeping a doubleheader from the A's, 8-6 in 10 innings and 11-3. The double victory gave them a lead of 2½ games—hardly commanding but the largest enjoyed by any AL leader this season.

The Los Angeles Angels regained second place when they engineered a doubleheader split, while Cleveland slipped back to third by losing a pair. The Angels beat Washington 5-1 in their first game, but lost 10-4 in the second. Cleveland went three games off the pace when it lost its third and fourth straight, 6-4 and 5-4 to Baltimore. Chicago beat Detroit 5-3 in a single game and Minnesota took Boston 5-3 in the first of a doubleheader. The second game was rained out.

Home runs accounted for 10 of the Yankees' 19 runs at Kansas City. Roger Maris hit his 22nd and 23rd in the first, Elston Howard his 9th and 10th in the second. Gino Cimoli's homer in the bottom of the eighth forced the opener into overtime, but Yogi Berra won it with his two-run homer in the 10th. Bill Skowron's two-run homer highlighted a three-run fourth inning that put New York ahead to stay in the second game.

Jim Gentile's home runs decided each Baltimore game and knocked the Indians out of second. His 23rd of the season broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth inning of the first game and his 24th snapped a 5-5 deadlock in the ninth inning of the nightcap. Chuck Estrada limited Cleveland to six hits, including a two-run homer by Willie Kirkland, in winning the opener.

Eli Grba, who has a 6-0 career record against Washington, went the distance for the first time in 17 starts in pitching the Angels to their first game victory. Joe Koppe drove in three Los Angeles runs on a homer and a single. The Senators, however, punished six Angels pitchers with a 17-hit attack in the nightcap rout. Bob Schmidt drove in three runs and Ken Hamlin two. Hamlin also stole three bases.

Luis Aparicio's double keyed a two-run White Sox rally in the eighth against Detroit. His sharp hit that caromed off third baseman Steve Boros drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie and pushed the White Sox winning string to six. Rocky Colavito's 21st home run had tied it in the Tiger half of the inning.

Harmon Killebrew drove in four runs with a pair of doubles in Minnesota's victory over Boston. Frank Sullivan retired nine men in order in a three-inning relief appearance to save it.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Tony Blom of Cincinnati, the 1959 champion, is back on Ohio's amateur golf throne today—but it's too bad the state can't crown co-king

Blom bested 19-year-old Bobby Littler Jr. of Athens in Sunday's title tussle—but he required 37 holes to do it. For the regulation 36 holes Littler battled his tourney-tested foe hole-for-hole, but he finally succumbed to a 10 - foot birdie putt in the sudden death playoff.

Even Blom, elated by his conquest, had nothing but high praise for the red-haired youngster from the hill country. Blom had canned a 15-foot putt over the undulating 36th green to stay in the game, just before his big payoff putt, and he summed it up with:

"I was lucky. That putt on the 36th looked a mile long and the cup was mighty small. I just hit it and it went in.

"Bobby is a great youngster, and with his game he just has to go places. He is as cool as a cucumber. He has all the poise of a professional and has every shot in the bag. He's had some mighty good teaching."

The teaching came from the youngster's dad, Bob Littler Sr., pro at Athens Country Club, and professional tourist Dow Finsterwald.

The championship match, over Dayton Country Club's 6,243-yard par 71 course, was a rugged one all the way. Heavy rains and waterlogged greens added new hazards to the hills, trees and traps which infest the layout.

A morning storm held up play for about 2½ hours—the gladiators were even at the end of 11 holes when the rains came—and intermittent showers fell the rest of the day.

Despite the conditions, Blom toured the 37 holes in one under par, while Littler was one over regulation figures. Neither held a lead of more than two holes and each registered six birdies. Difference in the medal scores came on the 29th when Blom had a birdie and Littler a bogie.

The Athens redhead lost two great chances to win in the late going. The big opportunity came on the 358-yard 32nd hole.

Thomas Renews Duel With Russian Jumper

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Records, favorites and the attention of the track world all have changed since the last time a slender Boston University high jumper named John Thomas visited Stanford University.

Two years ago the 6-foot-5 Negro was a magnet who drew throngs to watch him glide effortlessly over 7 feet as he practiced for the U.S. Olympic Trials.

In those trials on July 1, 1960, the smiling Thomas lifted himself over the then-incredible height of 7-3¾ to a world record and an apparent ticket to an Olympic gold medal.

Now Thomas is back at Stanford to jump for the United States against Russia in a dual meet next Saturday and Sunday.

But his name excites the spectator no more than a dozen other names. He is not the world record-holder. He is not the Olympic champion.

But he is a serious 21-year-old who hopes his own determination and the magic of Stanford Stadium's grass field event areas can help him whip the new high jump king—Russian Valery Brumel, a man who has never lost to Thomas in five meetings.

It is evident he remembers the Rome Olympics, when his "sure" gold medal tarnished to bronze as Russia's Robert Shav-lakadze and Brumel upset him.

Then Brumel came to the United States the following indoor season and whipped Thomas three times. Last July he bested Thomas again with a mighty leap o 7-4¼ while the American cleared 7-2.

Sunday the dark-haired Soviet student demonstrated the grass could help him as it once helped Thomas. In his first series of jumps off the unaccustomed surface, Brumel cleared 7-3. His pending world mark is 7-4⅝.

Yesterday's Stars

Batting — Jim Gentile of the Orioles put Baltimore ahead to stay with his 23rd home run in sixth inning of 6-4 opener and won the 6-5 second game with his 24th in the ninth.

Pitching—Art Mahaffey of the Phillies turned back league-leading Dodgers with five hits, 2-1, beating them for the first time in his career with his sixth straight complete game.

Stacey Advances In Ellwood City Tennis Tourney

Laurin Stacey is the lone hope from the East Liverpool Tennis Club remaining in the Tennis tournament at Ellwood City.

After winning by default Saturday, Stacey defeated G. McHattie, a member of the Youngstown University net team, 6-3 and 6-1. Stacey goes into tonight's quarter final match meeting Millville of Pittsburgh at 6:30.

Saturday, Collin Neal of the local club lost to H. Mathieson of Ellwood City, 6-1 and 6-1 and Joe Leigh was eliminated by Maury Young of Salem 6-1 and 6-2 Sunday.

In junior competition, Paul Jarvis was defeated by Tom Horwitz of Butler 1-6 and 2-6.

Giuseppe Verdi (1813-1901) composed 27 operas.

Ashcroft Signs Bonus For $5,000-$10,000 With Twins

Yankees Win Pair, Build Lead To 2½ Games

The Review Sports

MONDAY, JULY 16, 1962 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 10

Will Report To Florida Next March

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Rich Ashcroft of Hookstown a hard-hitting first baseman, Sunday was signed by the Minnesota Twins for a handsome bonus of between $5,000 and $10,000.

The signing by the American League club came after several other major league teams sought the services of the 19-year-old Ashcroft. Among them were the Cleveland Indians, New York Mets, Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles.

By inking the contract, Rich becomes the second district youth in as many years to sign with the Minnesota team. Bernie Allen was signed for a $50,000 bonus in East Liverpool a year ago and is now the regular second baseman for the Twins.

ASHCROFT was signed at his home Sunday afternoon by Ray Holton, divisional scout for the Twins from Louisville, Ky., and Bob Campbell of East Liverpool, a veteran City League player and manager now representing the Twins in this area.

Ashcroft has been assigned to the Twins' Ft. Walton Beach (Fla.) team, a Class D club in the Florida State League but will not report until next March. At that time he will be placed in the Twins Minor League system depending on his improvement in spring training.

He has been handling the first base duties for the East Liverpool Merchants in the County City League team and the J & L Steel nine in the Greater Aliquippa Community League and is hitting well over .300 in both circuits. He bats and throws left handed.

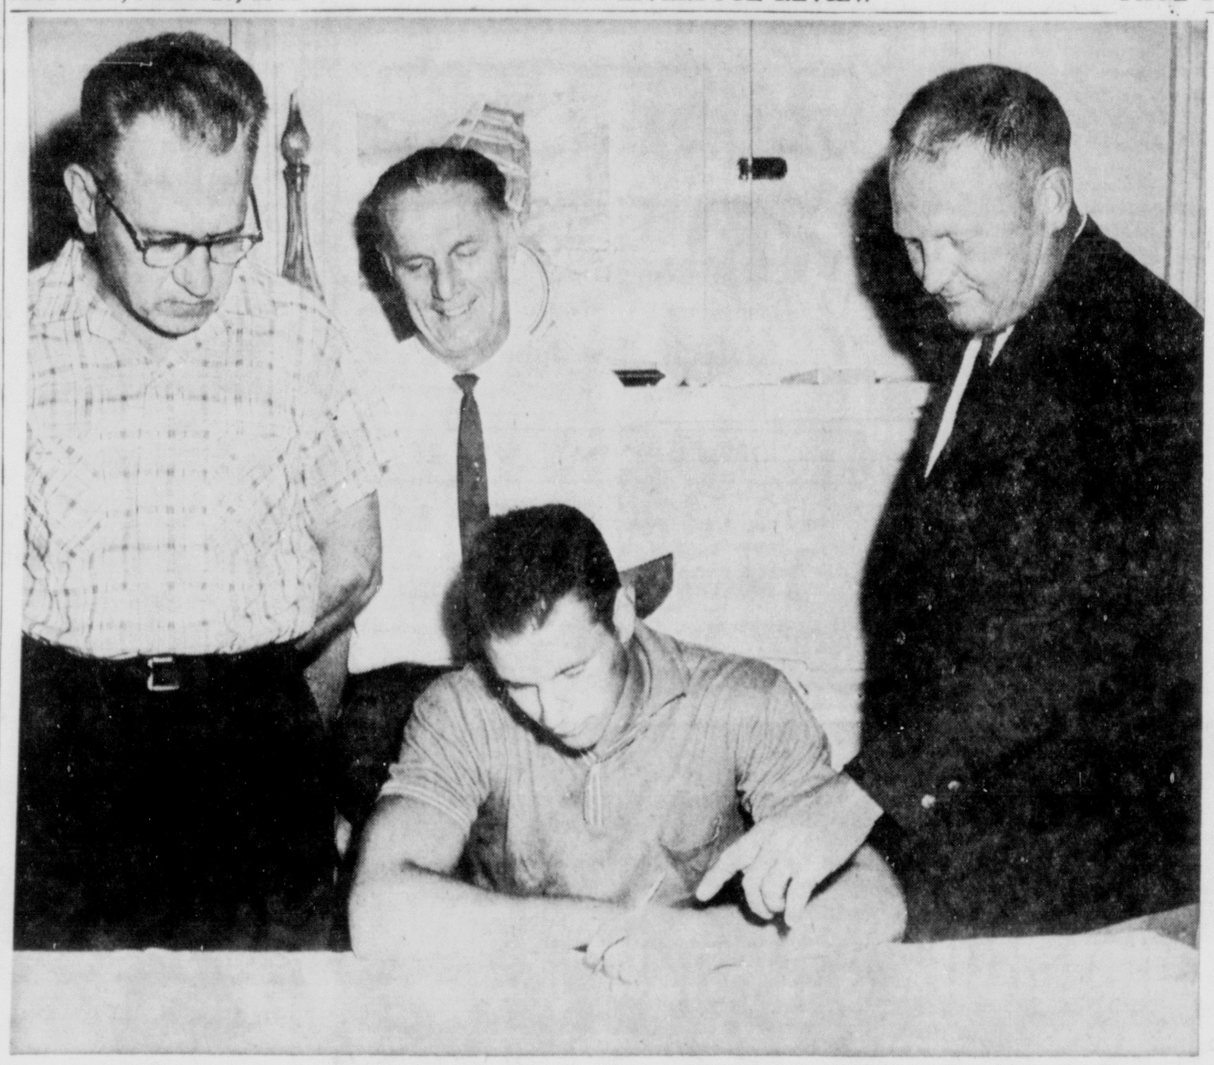
IN SEPTEMBER, Ashcroft will return to the University of Wichita, where he will be a junior. He plans to complete one semester during the winter before heading to spring training.

The versatile athlete, who broke every scoring record in basketball at South Side High School, was a regular halfback in football as a sophomore last season at Wichita but will be ineligible for football now after signing the professional baseball contract.

At South Side High, Ashcroft excelled in football, basketball and baseball.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ashcroft and is the oldest of four boys in the family.



RAY HOLTON (right), divisional scout for the Minnesota Twins, points to the dotted line as hard-hitting Rich Ashcroft of Hookstown signed a professional baseball contract with the Minnesota Twins at his home Sunday. The bonus was reported to be between $5,000 and $10,000. Witnessing the signing is Rich's father (left) and Bob Campbell of East Liverpool, representing the Twins in this area.

Indians Dropped Into Third Place

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Maybe—just maybe, mind you—this time it's for real.

The New York Yankees, who were supposed to run away and hide from the rest of the American League, have been in and out of first place on 10 separate occasions this season.

About half the times they were in, the perennial champions made mildly threatening gestures, and the experts proclaimed "This is it. Just like we said, Now they'll move."

Each time, however, it proved to be a false start. The league rallied, or injury struck, or the Yankees suddenly started acting like any other ball club. The result has been one of the closest American League races in history.

Well, they're in again and making those threatening gestures—only this time they may not be such mild motions. Maybe, just maybe, this time it's for real.

The Yanks pounced on Kansas City's thin pitching for 26 hits, including 10 home runs, Sunday in sweeping a doubleheader from the A's, 8-6 in 10 innings and 11-3. The double victory gave them a lead of 2½ games—hardly commanding but the largest enjoyed by any AL leader this season.

The Los Angeles Angels regained second place when they engineered a doubleheader split, while Cleveland slipped back to third by losing a pair. The Angels beat Washington 5-1 in their first game, but lost 10-4 in the second. Cleveland went three games off the pace when it lost its third and fourth straight, 6-4 and 5-4 to Baltimore. Chicago beat Detroit 5-3 in a single game and Minnesota took Boston 5-3 in the first of a doubleheader. The second game was rained out.

Home runs accounted for 10 of the Yankees' 19 runs at Kansas City. Roger Maris hit his 22nd and 23rd in the first, Elston Howard his 9th and 10th in the second. Gino Cimoli's homer in the bottom of the eighth forced the opener into overtime, but Yogi Berra won it with his two-run homer in the 10th. Bill Skowron's two-run homer highlighted a three-run fourth inning that put New York ahead to stay in the second game.

Jim Gentile's home runs decided each Baltimore game and knocked the Indians out of second. His 23rd of the season broke a 4-4 tie in the sixth inning of the first game and his 24th snapped a 5-5 deadlock in the ninth inning of the nightcap. Chuck Estrada limited Cleveland to six hits, including a two-run homer by Willie Kirkland, in winning the opener.

Eli Grba, who has a 6-0 career record against Washington, went the distance for the first time in 17 starts in pitching the Angels to their first game victory. Joe Koppe drove in three Los Angeles runs on a homer and a single. The Senators, however, punished six Angels pitchers with a 17-hit attack in the nightcap rout. Bob Schmidt drove in three runs and Ken Hamlin two. Hamlin also stole three bases.

Luis Aparicio's double keyed a two-run White Sox rally in the eighth against Detroit. His sharp hit that caromed off third baseman Steve Boros drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie and pushed the White Sox winning string to six. Rocky Colavito's 21st home run had tied it in the Tiger half of the inning.

Harmon Killebrew drove in four runs with a pair of doubles in Minnesota's victory over Boston. Frank Sullivan retired nine men in order in a three-inning relief appearance to save it.

No Change In National League, All Teams Split Games

Mets Almost Nip Giants Twice; Bucs Rebound To Take Nightcap

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League set a new high for futility Sunday. After 10 games, stretching over 7 hours and 45 minutes, all 10 clubs were right back where they started.

The five split doubleheaders left Los Angeles 2½ games in front of San Francisco and 4½ in front of Pittsburgh. St. Louis still trailed by 10 and Cincinnati by 10½.

And the Mets? Still 34½ games out and 39 games below .500.

You can't say the Mets didn't try.

After beating the Giants in the opener 5-3, the Mets staged a six-run uprising in the eighth inning of the second game before finally succumbing 9-8.

The Dodgers also ran into trouble with the have-nots. After breezing past the Phillies in the opener 9-1 on a six-hitter by Johnny Podres, they lost 2-1 to Art Mahaffey, who never had beaten them previously.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh clawed away at one another all day and got nothing more than a standoff. Fred Whitfield's pinch homer in the 10th gave the Cards the opener 3-2 but the Pirates grabbed the second 8-7 on Roberto Clemente's single after the Cards tied the score in the top of the ninth.

Milwaukee got five-hit shutout pitching by Lew Burdette for a 5-0 victory over Cincinnati in the first game and appeared on the way to two before the Reds beat rookie Denny Lemaster 3-2 with two in the ninth on Vada Pinson's 16th homer and an unearned run after Lee Maye dropped Wally Post's fly.

Houston was guilty of nine errors, five in the first game which they won from Chicago 5-4 on Al Spangler's two-run homer in the seventh. The Cubs took the second 4-1 with 10 hits, four Houston errors and a tidy five-hit pitching job by Dick Ellsworth.

The Giants' hopes of rolling up football scores against the Mets, as the Dodgers did Saturday, were foiled by Jay Hook's nine-hit pitching and Frank Thomas' hitting in the opener. Thomas had two doubles and a single and drove in two runs. Tom Haller of the Giants hit the only homer after the Mets had a five-run fourth.

With a 9-2 lead going to the last of the eighth, the Giants appeared to be in a comfortable position in the second game. However, the Mets sent 11 men to the plate in the eighth and scored six runs before Juan Marichal finally cooled them off. Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn each hit two-run homers for the Giants in that game.

Podres' complete game against the Phils was his first since May 9. He had failed to finish 13 straight times.

Mahaffey had lost seven straight to the Dodgers in his big league career before he finally scored in the second game. Phil Ortega, a surprise starter, simply couldn't handle Roy Sievers who hit his 12th homer in the second and scored the winning run on Bobby Wine's single in the fourth after he was hit by a pitch.

Whitfield's homer at Pittsburgh won the game for Ray Washburn, the man for whom he batted. Roy Face was the loser. Face won the second game when Bill Virdon, Dick Groat and Clemente singled in the last of the ninth. Trailing 7-2, the Cards fought back to tie on Ken Boyer's two-run homer in the top of the ninth. Don Ferrarese was the loser.

Eddie Mathews took over eighth place on the all-time list of home run hitters with his 388th in the first game. Loser Jim Maloney was the victim. With the Braves leading 2-1 and Lemaster doing a fine job in his first start since he was called up from Louisville three days ago, Pinson hit his 16th homer in the ninth, tying the second game. After Maye's error on Post's fly, a wild pitch and Hank Foiles' single ended it.

The Colts overcame five errors with home runs by Roman Mejias, Carl Warwick and Spangler in the opener, won by Hal Woodeshick. They couldn't cope with Ellsworth's pitching in the second and helped the Cubs with four errors.

Another Mark For 'The Man'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was the owner of another career record today, but he was less impressed with the feat than the fans who saw him accomplish it.

The great Cardinal outfielder was given a rousing ovation by 26,905 persons Sunday when he broke Honus Wagner's National League record of 10,427 times at bat. Musial got his 10,428th when he stepped to the plate in the second game of a doubleheader with Pittsburgh.

Musial, who is from Donora, Pa., promptly belted a double, one of his three hits during the game. They boosted his average to .339.

Afterwards Musial said, "I couldn't get really enthused. I feel this really isn't a record, but just an accumulation of times at bat."

The record was Musial's fourth this season. Earlier he had smashed National League marks for the most games, hits and runs in a career and the major league record for total bases.

Musial still needs 1,002 more at bats to break the immortal Ty Cobb's major league mark.

Doomed Horse Returns To Win At Waterford

Birtley, a horse doomed to death a year ago, was very much alive Saturday at Waterford Park.

Last winter at Tampa, Fla., Birtley was consigned to the "killers". He was at the time broken down, almost beyond the hope of recovery, or so it was assumed.

It, therefore, was decided to get a few dollars for him at the "killers". But Arnold B. Connelly of Alberta, Canada, a man with a big heart, who had seen the horse run and had taken a fancy to the 5-year-old, could not bear to see the horse destroyed.

Connelly is not a wealthy horseman, in fact he sometimes has a tough time. But at Tampa, last winter he had enough money to buy the horse for $100 and save it from death.

The two came north and Connelly started Birtley at Wheeling Downs, and he won. Later at Waterford Park the horse won again and Saturday at Waterford captured the sixth race over a distance of a mile and returned $11.40, $4.20 and $3.

Saturday's daily double of 7-4, Taras Rose and Rodnicky, returned its backers $16.

Bonus Youngster Scared But Impresses Al Dark

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How does a 20-year-old collegian who never has pitched an inning of organized baseball feel when he makes the trek from the bullpen to the mound in his first major league game?

"Scared," admitted 6-foot-5, 205-pound Bob Garibaldi today. "It really scared me taking that long walk from the bullpen."

Garibaldi was signed by the San Francisco Giants off the Santa Clara campus for an estimated $150,000 bonus on July 4. He had been named the most valuable player in the College World Series in Omaha.

Commissioner Ford Frick ruled that he could not officially become a member of the Giants until Sunday. Manager Alvin Dark waited only until the eighth inning of the opener to give him a try.

The Giants were behind 5-2 when he took over and he retired the side with no trouble.

"I'm just as glad I pitched, though," said Garibaldi. "It took a lot of the tension off me.

"While I was out there I just kept trying to follow the managers advice. He told me to take my time—not to hurry at all—and to pitch strikes.

"I sure got a big kick out of it when the boys on the team got up to shake my hand when I finished my inning."

"He looked great," said Dark. "He pitched like a real big leaguer."

Dark said he would keep Garibaldi pitching batting practice, perhaps use him as the long middle innings relief man, then consider starting him against the Houston Colts next week.

56 In Summer Term

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fifty-six Hancock County residents are enrolled in the first term of the West Virginia University summer session, according to a report issued today by J. Everett Long, registrar. Total enrollment is 3,139, up 12 per cent from last year.

Turnover Due For Slumping Houston Nine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — General Manager Paul Richards has abruptly announced that Colt baseball fans can expect to see many new faces in Houston uniforms unless the team stops its losing ways.

After overcoming five errors to beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-4 in the opener of a doubleheader, the Colts lost the nightcap 4-1.

The split interrupted Houston's longest losing streak at seven games. The Colts now have lost 18 of their last 21.

In what may be the start of a mass turnover, Richards said Houston had swapped pitchers and catchers with the Oklahoma City farm club.

Catcher Jim Campbell and pitcher Jim Umbricht were called up and pitcher Dave Giusi and catcher Merritt Ranew were sent to the American Association club.

"It's time for us to try some other people," said a rather obviously miffed Richards.

"The way we're going, we can mess up these games with anybody. You're liable to see 25 new players run in there if we can find them."

Campbell has been hitting .355 with nine homers for Oklahoma City and contending for the American Association batting title.

Umbricht specialized in relief pitching for the Oklahoma City club and posted an earned run average of 3.53.

Mets Almost Nip Giants Twice; Bucs Rebound To Take Nightcap

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League set a new high for futility Sunday. After 10 games, stretching over 7 hours and 45 minutes, all 10 clubs were right back where they started.

The five split doubleheaders left Los Angeles 2½ games in front of San Francisco and 4½ in front of Pittsburgh. St. Louis still trailed by 10 and Cincinnati by 10½.

And the Mets? Still 34½ games out and 39 games below .500.

You can't say the Mets didn't try.

After beating the Giants in the opener 5-3, the Mets staged a six-run uprising in the eighth inning of the second game before finally succumbing 9-8.

The Dodgers also ran into trouble with the have-nots. After breezing past the Phillies in the opener 9-1 on a six-hitter by Johnny Podres, they lost 2-1 to Art Mahaffey, who never had beaten them previously.

St. Louis and Pittsburgh clawed away at one another all day and got nothing more than a standoff. Fred Whitfield's pinch homer in the 10th gave the Cards the opener 3-2 but the Pirates grabbed the second 8-7 on Roberto Clemente's single after the Cards tied the score in the top of the ninth.

Milwaukee got five-hit shutout pitching by Lew Burdette for a 5-0 victory over Cincinnati in the first game and appeared on the way to two before the Reds beat rookie Denny Lemaster 3-2 with two in the ninth on Vada Pinson's 16th homer and an unearned run after Lee Maye dropped Wally Post's fly.

Houston was guilty of nine errors, five in the first game which they won from Chicago 5-4 on Al Spangler's two-run homer in the seventh. The Cubs took the second 4-1 with 10 hits, four Houston errors and a tidy five-hit pitching job by Dick Ellsworth.

The Giants' hopes of rolling up football scores against the Mets, as the Dodgers did Saturday, were foiled by Jay Hook's nine-hit pitching and Frank Thomas' hitting in the opener. Thomas had two doubles and a single and drove in two runs. Tom Haller of the Giants hit the only homer after the Mets had a five-run fourth.

With a 9-2 lead going to the last of the eighth, the Giants appeared to be in a comfortable position in the second game. However, the Mets sent 11 men to the plate in the eighth and scored six runs before Juan Marichal finally cooled them off. Orlando Cepeda and Harvey Kuenn each hit two-run homers for the Giants in that game.

Podres' complete game against the Phils was his first since May 9. He had failed to finish 13 straight times.

Mahaffey had lost seven straight to the Dodgers in his big league career before he finally scored in the second game. Phil Ortega, a surprise starter, simply couldn't handle Roy Sievers who hit his 12th homer in the second and scored the winning run on Bobby Wine's single in the fourth after he was hit by a pitch.

Whitfield's homer at Pittsburgh won the game for Ray Washburn, the man for whom he batted. Roy Face was the loser. Face won the second game when Bill Virdon, Dick Groat and Clemente singled in the last of the ninth. Trailing 7-2, the Cards fought back to tie on Ken Boyer's two-run homer in the top of the ninth. Don Ferrarese was the loser.

Eddie Mathews took over eighth place on the all-time list of home run hitters with his 388th in the first game. Loser Jim Maloney was the victim. With the Braves leading 2-1 and Lemaster doing a fine job in his first start since he was called up from Louisville three days ago, Pinson hit his 16th homer in the ninth, tying the second game. After Maye's error on Post's fly, a wild pitch and Hank Foiles' single ended it.

The Colts overcame five errors with home runs by Roman Mejias, Carl Warwick and Spangler in the opener, won by Hal Woodeshick. They couldn't cope with Ellsworth's pitching in the second and helped the Cubs with four errors.

Another Mark For 'The Man'

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals was the owner of another career record today, but he was less impressed with the feat than the fans who saw him accomplish it.

The great Cardinal outfielder was given a rousing ovation by 26,905 persons Sunday when he broke Honus Wagner's National League record of 10,427 times at bat. Musial got his 10,428th when he stepped to the plate in the second game of a doubleheader with Pittsburgh.

Musial, who is from Donora, Pa., promptly belted a double, one of his three hits during the game. They boosted his average to .339.

Afterwards Musial said, "I couldn't get really enthused. I feel this really isn't a record, but just an accumulation of times at bat."

The record was Musial's fourth this season. Earlier he had smashed National League marks for the most games, hits and runs in a career and the major league record for total bases.

Musial still needs 1,002 more at bats to break the immortal Ty Cobb's major league mark.

Bonus Youngster Scared But Impresses Al Dark

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—How does a 20-year-old collegian who never has pitched an inning of organized baseball feel when he makes the trek from the bullpen to the mound in his first major league game?

"Scared," admitted 6-foot-5, 205-pound Bob Garibaldi today. "It really scared me taking that long walk from the bullpen."

Garibaldi was signed by the San Francisco Giants off the Santa Clara campus for an estimated $150,000 bonus on July 4. He had been named the most valuable player in the College World Series in Omaha.

Commissioner Ford Frick ruled that he could not officially become a member of the Giants until Sunday. Manager Alvin Dark waited only until the eighth inning of the opener to give him a try.

The Giants were behind 5-2 when he took over and he retired the side with no trouble.

"I'm just as glad I pitched, though," said Garibaldi. "It took a lot of the tension off me.

"While I was out there I just kept trying to follow the managers advice. He told me to take my time—not to hurry at all—and to pitch strikes.

"I sure got a big kick out of it when the boys on the team got up to shake my hand when I finished my inning."

"He looked great," said Dark. "He pitched like a real big leaguer."

Dark said he would keep Garibaldi pitching batting practice, perhaps use him as the long middle innings relief man, then consider starting him against the Houston Colts next week.

56 In Summer Term

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fifty-six Hancock County residents are enrolled in the first term of the West Virginia University summer session, according to a report issued today by J. Everett Long, registrar. Total enrollment is 3,139, up 12 per cent from last year.

Turnover Due For Slumping Houston Nine

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — General Manager Paul Richards has abruptly announced that Colt baseball fans can expect to see many new faces in Houston uniforms unless the team stops its losing ways.

After overcoming five errors to beat the Chicago Cubs, 5-4 in the opener of a doubleheader, the Colts lost the nightcap 4-1.

The split interrupted Houston's longest losing streak at seven games. The Colts now have lost 18 of their last 21.

In what may be the start of a mass turnover, Richards said Houston had swapped pitchers and catchers with the Oklahoma City farm club.

Catcher Jim Campbell and pitcher Jim Umbricht were called up and pitcher Dave Giusi and catcher Merritt Ranew were sent to the American Association club.

"It's time for us to try some other people," said a rather obviously miffed Richards.

"The way we're going, we can mess up these games with anybody. You're liable to see 25 new players run in there if we can find them."

Campbell has been hitting .355 with nine homers for Oklahoma City and contending for the American Association batting title.

Garroway Put Soft Sell Into TV

You can blame a lot of it on Dave Garroway. As much as anyone, Garroway shaped television into a certain kind of art. Meandering through "Garroway at Large," he put the soft sell into TV entertainment.

Alan Gill

As anchor man on "Wide Wide World," he proved that television could cover far-flung areas of entertainment, "live."

With "Today," he introduced the television "magazine" format —a hodgepodge of news, information, conversation, and entertainment that is now all over the dials.

"What gets me," Fred Allen was complaining back in 1949, "is why they haven't sold the Dave Garroway show. Whoever does that show is turning out real television; he's creating something for television. Berle isn't doing anything for television. He's photographing a vaudeville act. That's what they're all doing."

-:-

IT WAS REAL television, all right, and it still is. "I saw one of the old 'Garroway at Large' shows recently," Garroway told me last week. "And it was pretty crude, believe me."

Crude but fresh, I suggested. Sweet.

"It was sweet," he agreed. "And it was all a long time ago, a different generation. A lot of people I talk to never heard of it.

"Whenever past shows are mentioned, I guess 'Today' gets 83 per cent of the talk. 'Garroway at Large' gets 14.5 per cent, and 'Wide Wide World' gets 0.5.

Of course, 'Wide Wide World' was on Sunday afternoons while everyone was off on a picnic. But it was a good show. I think there's a place for it — or something like it — in evening time. We had 84 cameras working for us on that show. Power.

'Pat' Weaver, who invented it, was a man of wide vision, and he still has it." Well, I said, why not try again on "Wide Wide World?" "I'm with you," said Garroway.

LATER, I was talking with one of Garroway's friends. "Dave is just getting back in," the friend said.

"One of these days, I think we might be seeing him in something like the old 'Garroway at Large' and we'll have some of the old magic back."

Let's hope so.

Meanwhile, we may watch closely as Jack Paar returns with what he calls "pure television" and a kind of "TV journal." Paar spilled out his many plans for the new show a few days ago to Richard K. Doan of the New York Herald Tribune and they are, to say the least, ambitious. The heart of the show will be film clips from all over the place.

Paar will take us to Tokyo, where Hans Conreid, Buddy Hackett and he got themselves up as Kabuki actors and engaged in some stylized horseplay; to Hong Kong, where Paar's daughter Randy interviewed some Chinese refugee children; to Gomu Island in the Solomons, where Lt. Jack Kennedy spent some time in a painful swim.

There will be some stuff on Germany, maybe Russia, and a helicopter trip over the classic ruins of Rome. We'll go from the Cornell Veterinary Hospital to an African safari. (Paar invades Tanganyika next month.)

OH, YES, and we'll see some old friends — Genevieve, Alexander King, Jose Melis, Robert Morley. There will be home visits a la "Person to Person." We'll meet Nixon (win or lose) at the piano and hear about Barry Goldwater's penchant for gimmickry. (He has a flag outside his home that automatically rises at sun-up and comes down with the sun too.)

There you have it: Home movies plus off-the-cuff chitchat. Only Paar's opening monologue will be written. Like Garroway's shows, we'll be given a little of this, a little of that — and all as casually as possible.

The odds? "The race is not to the swift," says the Bible, "nor the battle to the strong." But I'll still bet my money on Old Swifty. Paar, I think, is here to stay.

Course Offered On T Preaching Technique

ATLANTA (AP) — Emory University is aiming at bringing preachers into closer contact with the television-conditioned congregations.

A course in television preaching, described as the first in any U.S. seminary, will be offered this fall. Student ministers will preach before television cameras and view themselves in action later on videotape.

Georgia Mishap Kills New Philadelphia Girl

Killed was Brenda Bair. Among the injured were her parents, John Bair, 34, and Catherine, 35, and a brother, Mike, 8. All were reported in serious condition.

OH, YES, and we'll see some old friends — Genevieve, Alexander King, Jose Melis, Robert Morley. There will be home visits a la "Person to Person." We'll meet Nixon (win or lose) at the piano and hear about Barry Goldwater's penchant for gimmickry. (He has a flag outside his home that automatically rises at sun-up and comes down with the sun too.)

There you have it: Home movies plus off-the-cuff chitchat. Only Paar's opening monologue will be written. Like Garroway's shows, we'll be given a little of this, a little of that — and all as casually as possible.

The odds? "The race is not to the swift," says the Bible, "nor the battle to the strong." But I'll still bet my money on Old Swifty. Paar, I think, is here to stay.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Overweight Child Needs Help Early

Mothers of overweight youngsters: If you have a child that the others dub "Fatso", help that child now! It's an outmoded notion that the roly-poly child is "bursting with health." The complacent thought that the overweight will "outgrow" the fat at a certain age is just wishful thinking.

Ida Jean Kain

Why are there so many fat children today? Two reasons — lack of physical exercise, coupled with excess sweets and fattening food habits. And could a third reason be the fact that so many mothers work today and therefore cannot supervise the child's eating?

WHY IS overweight in a mere child, say 7 or 8, such a serious matter? First of all, when the pattern of overeating is established early in life, it tends to remain fixed.

Various studies have shown that between 60 and 80 per cent of overweight adults were fat as children. Such studies also reveal that it's the overweights who have been fat all their lives who have the toughest time trying to lose.

Another cause for concern: Being the butt of jokes can create serious emotional problems. At an annual meeting of the American Dietetic Association, Dr. Albert Stunkard explained that very obese children so often grow up to dislike themselves. He termed this a distorted "body - image." This self-disgust has been found among the fatties who became obese during childhood or adolescence.

On the hopeful side: Younger children are more apt to be successful in reducing attempts than teen-agers. Why is it easier for children to reduce? Apparently the fattening food habits are not so deeply ingrained in children — habit can be more easily changed when a child is young.

What to do for an overweight child? Take him or her to a clinic for overweight children, or to your family doctor or pediatrician. The specialist will not dismiss the problem lightly.

It is important to get off to a good start. At a clinic, for example, the fatty is told, "You don't have to diet, but if you want to lose, we'll be happy to help you."

Florida Couple Really Love Their Porpoises

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Milton Santini are in the business of selling porpoises—but buying one from them is more like adopting a child than making a purchase.

Says Mrs. Santini of the intelligence of porpoises: "Sometimes I'm not so sure but what they're ahead of men."

High Water Hits Kentucky Town; Kills Woman, 70

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Members of the Kenton County patrol and police from nearby communities kept watch around stricken Sanfordtown early today.

Banklick Creek, a tributary of Licking River, swept over its banks Sunday, killing an elderly woman and driving about 100 families from their homes in this Northern Kentucky area.

Damage was estimated at about $500,000.

Overweight Child Needs Help Early

Mothers of overweight youngsters: If you have a child that the others dub "Fatso", help that child now! It's an outmoded notion that the roly-poly child is "bursting with health." The complacent thought that the overweight will "outgrow" the fat at a certain age is just wishful thinking.

Ida Jean Kain

On fattening food habits, nature takes her ever-widening course. Excess fat is a physical handicap. Being left out of games, the chubby child, who loves to eat, substitutes food for active fun.

Why are there so many fat children today? Two reasons — lack of physical exercise, coupled with excess sweets and fattening food habits. And could a third reason be the fact that so many mothers work today and therefore cannot supervise the child's eating?

WHY IS overweight in a mere child, say 7 or 8, such a serious matter? First of all, when the pattern of overeating is established early in life, it tends to remain fixed.

Various studies have shown that between 60 and 80 per cent of overweight adults were fat as children. Such studies also reveal that it's the overweights who have been fat all their lives who have the toughest time trying to lose.

Another cause for concern: Being the butt of jokes can create serious emotional problems. At an annual meeting of the American Dietetic Association, Dr. Albert Stunkard explained that very obese children so often grow up to dislike themselves. He termed this a distorted "body - image." This self-disgust has been found among the fatties who became obese during childhood or adolescence.

On the hopeful side: Younger children are more apt to be successful in reducing attempts than teen-agers. Why is it easier for children to reduce? Apparently the fattening food habits are not so deeply ingrained in children — habit can be more easily changed when a child is young.

What to do for an overweight child? Take him or her to a clinic for overweight children, or to your family doctor or pediatrician. The specialist will not dismiss the problem lightly.

It is important to get off to a good start. At a clinic, for example, the fatty is told, "You don't have to diet, but if you want to lose, we'll be happy to help you."

Florida Couple Really Love Their Porpoises

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Milton Santini are in the business of selling porpoises—but buying one from them is more like adopting a child than making a purchase.

Says Mrs. Santini of the intelligence of porpoises: "Sometimes I'm not so sure but what they're ahead of men."

Modern Coffee Table Isn't Hard To Make

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Have you ever seen one of those modern coffee tables with a latticework top? You know the kind; it has a series of wooden strips running across the width or length or both.

Did you know it's possible to make one of those tables with a single size of wood: one inch by two inches? That is, except for the legs, which can be purchased precut with the necessary hardware for attaching to the underside.

If you're a do-it-yourself novice, this is the kind of project that shouldn't give you too much trouble.

For instance, in buying the wood, all you have to order are six 12-foot lengths one inch by two inches. You can get walnut, cherry, maple or any of the hardwoods if you want something special, but white pine or any other softwood will be very effective and a bit easier to work.

You start by making a simple frame. Cut two lengths 51¼ inches and two lengths 17 and 7-16 inches. Using both screws and glue, assemble the frame by fitting the shorter pieces over the ends of the longer pieces.

Use one and one-half-inch wood screws, predrilling ⅛-inch holes so the screws will take hold properly. For a neat job, countersink the screws slightly and then cover the area with matching wood putty.

The lengthwise, center section of the table is also made separately. Cut 13 pieces, each 30 inches long. Cut two pieces, each 15 and ⅞ inches long. The 30-inch pieces should be spaced at 7-16 inch intervals, held together at the ends of the two 15 and ⅞-inch lengths. Use glue and finishing nails to assemble this section. Since the nails are merely to hold the wood in place until the glue sets, you nede only one nail in each joint.

When both the frame and the center section have set, you are ready for the next step. Place the center section within the frame, centering it carefully and then attach it. Use glue and screws, making the attachments at the four places the crosspieces meet the frame.

You now have a table top with open spaces at either side of the center section. To fill these spaces, cut 16 more lengths, each 15 and ⅞-inches. Eight of these are fitted into place on either side of the center section. These pieces run the width of the table top, giving a decorative effect, since the strips in the center section run lengthwise.

Space these crosspieces at 7-16-inch intervals, but the two members adjoining the center section should be flush to each other. This provides a solid base for attaching the legs on the underside.

You can get precut legs which are set in place vertically or, if you prefer, those which slant.

The legs come in different lengths and should be selected according to the height of the sofa near which the table will be placed. Most people like the table to be slightly lower than the seat of the sofa, but this is a matter of individual preference.

Steel Demand Shows Spurt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine predicted today August shipments will be 5 to 10 per cent higher than July's because of a rising demand from customers in the automotive, construction and container industries.

Next month automakers are to receive their first sizable shipments for use in production of 1963 models, and steel requirements of structural fabricators, road builders, pipeline companies, and canmakers are to move toward seasonal peaks.

Because of inventory cutbacks, vacations, and "the usual end-of-model - run drop in automotive steel buying," the magazine said, July shipments will be 10 to 15 per cent under June's.

Althokgh some steelmakers who are disappointed with the current leve of business may feel their did more strike heading than industry analysts estimated, chances are the estimates are accurate, Steel said.

The production uptrend continues. Ingot output this week is expected to be slightly higher than the estimated 1,350,000 tons poured last week. Output then was up 9 per cent over the holiday week.

Police Hold Wife For Slaying Girl

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecutor was to review facts today in the death of a 17-year-old waitress who police said was slain by an irate wife.

The body of Carolyn Conway was found Sunday in a car that had crashed into a utility pole on the East Side. Deputy County Coroner Lester Adelson said she died from severe cuts on her neck.

Homicide Capt. David E. Kerr said Mrs. Betty Perry, 25, admitted killing the girl by beating her over the head with a flashlight and gashing her neck with a broken beer bottle.

Mrs. Perry and her husband, Wallace, 27, in whose car the body was found, were arrested at their residence Sunday.

New Treatment Used For Doing Over Attic

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The attic is becoming a useful part of the home as building costs soar.

Instead of a repository for old Civil War uniforms and dressmaker dummies, the attic can make an ideal guest room or living quarters for in-laws.

Modern insulation and equipment have helped increase its usefulness in recent years, and now comes a new wall treatment to enhance walls as well as serve as insulation. The material will be an over-the-counter item in a few months, but now it is available through decorators.

David Barrett used the new treatment — urethane foam laminated to fabric — in an attic setting that combined the functional with good looks.

The same fabric, a Provincial print with flecks of green, orange, pink and yellow on a black background, was used also on the daybed, banquettes, throw pillows and other cushioning in the room.

"You don't need to spend a fortune to convert an attic into a useful room," Barrett points out. "This new material (1-16 of an inch) can be sewed, stapled, tacked, cut with scissors, applied by a do-it-yourselfer with staples or fixative."

He suggests making the attic cozy by choosing a gay fabric, using bookcases (he used L-shaped bookshelves of wormy chestnut) with one shelf adapted to reading in bed.

"Old furniture, perhaps the very furniture one had stored in the attic, may supply the atmosphere hold a concealed light trough for that lends charm. Mix what you like — French, Italian, English, Dutch, American. We are in a transitional period in design, borrowing from the past, combining furnishing and accessories into what is evolving as a distinctive look of its own. It is not a look of space ships at all, but rather a back-to-the-home-we-used - to-know kind of look, a look of the 1930s or a turn - of - the - century-and - a - few - years - later look."

In his attic Barrett used a Dutch chest, a French parquette-floor coffee table, an Italian wrought-iron arm holding a wire basket filled with greens.

Four old French iron chairs are cushioned in plain yellow fabric and a Judge's chair was upholstered in black leather. A French tole chandelier was hung over a card table designed by Barrett and a collection of brass framed mirrors was used on the wall.

One side of the daybed nestling under the eaves was against a white brick chimney wall, the other was marked with floor-to-ceiling wood posts. Sheer curtains were used and radiators were concealed beneath the window seats.

A modern painting by Kun was on the wall. Six pillows for lounging on the random-width pegged oak-patterned vinyl floor were of the same Provincial print as used on the walls.

Other rooms have made excellent use of the new laminated fabric. Virginia Whitmore Kelly employed it for acoustical purposes in a hi-fi room, covering walls, doors, ceilings. Staniford Squires sandiwched urethane between two fabrics to serve as a cord and pulley roll-up shade in a seaside cottage.

Home Remodel Course Awaited

COLUMBUS — Retail and building materials dealers from a six-state area will meet here Monday for a week-long intensive course in home remodeling.

William L. Johnson, president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, which sponsors the course, said there is an urgent need for complete one-stop remodeling centers where a home owner can get help with all phases of a planned remodeling project.

"The most logical person to furnish all of the services for remodeling is the local retail lumber and building materials dealer," he said. "He is an established local businessman who is already fully acquainted with the best and newest building materials. The training he will get in our Home and Property (HAPI) program will help him coordinate these skills and provide home owners with a true one-stop remodeling center."

About 92 per cent of American Negroes lived in the South in 1860. Today only about 60 per cent live in Southern states.

Turf-Cutting Aids Mowing

The man who mows his own lawn knows that it is impossible to cut close to shrubbery without danger of clipping away at the bottom foliage and eventually spoiling the shape of ornamental pieces.

He also knows that he must get down on his knees with a hand clipper to cut around them.

A lawn that can be cut in a half hour will take another half hour for trimming around the shrubs so that long grass and weeds will not be bunched in with the shrubs themselves and spoil the otherwise neat-looking job. It is these extra chores that use up the day and make what should be a quick job a tiresome performance.

There is an easy way to avoid this extra work. It consists of cutting out the turf around a group of shrubs. When the lawn mower reaches a group of shrubs so treated it can be run around the edge without interrupting your stride. As soon as a weed or a blade of grass appears within the bare - earth circle, it can be plucked out in a second and the earth need only be raked occasionally to keep the planting looking neat and clean.

Aside from time saved, these circles add a finishing touch and improve the general appearance of a place.

As a rule, the bare earth should not extend more than one foot from the base of the shrubs. It is not desirable to allow a large expanse of ground to bake out in the sun and effect the root system of the shrubbery. Another good reason for the outlining method is that the bare ground will naturally be on a lower level than the lawn itself and thus act as a catch-basin for rain or sprinkling.

Sec. Goldberg Warns On Missile Stoppages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg says any work stoppages at the nation's missile plants could prompt him to seek anti-strike legislation from Congress.

"We cannot afford a strike in our missile manufacturing plants," Goldberg said Sunday during a radio and television program taped with Sen. Kenneth B Keating, R-N.Y., for use in New York.

Goldberg expressed hope for a peaceful settlement of a dispute between missile manufacturers and two unions—the United Auto Workers and the Machinists—which threatens to end in a strike July 23. About 125,000 workers at five plants are involved.

Have you ever seen one of those modern coffee tables with a latticework top? You know the kind; it has a series of wooden strips running across the width or length or both.

Did you know it's possible to make one of those tables with a single size of wood: one inch by two inches? That is, except for the legs, which can be purchased precut with the necessary hardware for attaching to the underside.

If you're a do-it-yourself novice, this is the kind of project that shouldn't give you too much trouble.

For instance, in buying the wood, all you have to order are six 12-foot lengths one inch by two inches. You can get walnut, cherry, maple or any of the hardwoods if you want something special, but white pine or any other softwood will be very effective and a bit easier to work.

You start by making a simple frame. Cut two lengths 51¼ inches and two lengths 17 and 7-16 inches. Using both screws and glue, assemble the frame by fitting the shorter pieces over the ends of the longer pieces.

Use one and one-half-inch wood screws, predrilling ⅛-inch holes so the screws will take hold properly. For a neat job, countersink the screws slightly and then cover the area with matching wood putty.

The lengthwise, center section of the table is also made separately. Cut 13 pieces, each 30 inches long. Cut two pieces, each 15 and ⅞ inches long. The 30-inch pieces should be spaced at 7-16 inch intervals, held together at the ends of the two 15 and ⅞-inch lengths. Use glue and finishing nails to assemble this section. Since the nails are merely to hold the wood in place until the glue sets, you nede only one nail in each joint.

When both the frame and the center section have set, you are ready for the next step. Place the center section within the frame, centering it carefully and then attach it. Use glue and screws, making the attachments at the four places the crosspieces meet the frame.

You now have a table top with open spaces at either side of the center section. To fill these spaces, cut 16 more lengths, each 15 and ⅞-inches. Eight of these are fitted into place on either side of the center section. These pieces run the width of the table top, giving a decorative effect, since the strips in the center section run lengthwise.

Space these crosspieces at 7-16-inch intervals, but the two members adjoining the center section should be flush to each other. This provides a solid base for attaching the legs on the underside.

You can get precut legs which are set in place vertically or, if you prefer, those which slant.

The legs come in different lengths and should be selected according to the height of the sofa near which the table will be placed. Most people like the table to be slightly lower than the seat of the sofa, but this is a matter of individual preference.

Steel Demand Shows Spurt

CLEVELAND (AP)—Steel Magazine predicted today August shipments will be 5 to 10 per cent higher than July's because of a rising demand from customers in the automotive, construction and container industries.

Next month automakers are to receive their first sizable shipments for use in production of 1963 models, and steel requirements of structural fabricators, road builders, pipeline companies, and canmakers are to move toward seasonal peaks.

Because of inventory cutbacks, vacations, and "the usual end-of-model - run drop in automotive steel buying," the magazine said, July shipments will be 10 to 15 per cent under June's.

Althokgh some steelmakers who are disappointed with the current leve of business may feel their did more strike heading than industry analysts estimated, chances are the estimates are accurate, Steel said.

The production uptrend continues. Ingot output this week is expected to be slightly higher than the estimated 1,350,000 tons poured last week. Output then was up 9 per cent over the holiday week.

Police Hold Wife For Slaying Girl

CLEVELAND (AP)—The prosecutor was to review facts today in the death of a 17-year-old waitress who police said was slain by an irate wife.

The body of Carolyn Conway was found Sunday in a car that had crashed into a utility pole on the East Side. Deputy County Coroner Lester Adelson said she died from severe cuts on her neck.

Homicide Capt. David E. Kerr said Mrs. Betty Perry, 25, admitted killing the girl by beating her over the head with a flashlight and gashing her neck with a broken beer bottle.

Mrs. Perry and her husband, Wallace, 27, in whose car the body was found, were arrested at their residence Sunday.

New Treatment Used For Doing Over Attic

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The attic is becoming a useful part of the home as building costs soar.

Instead of a repository for old Civil War uniforms and dressmaker dummies, the attic can make an ideal guest room or living quarters for in-laws.

Modern insulation and equipment have helped increase its usefulness in recent years, and now comes a new wall treatment to enhance walls as well as serve as insulation. The material will be an over-the-counter item in a few months, but now it is available through decorators.

David Barrett used the new treatment — urethane foam laminated to fabric — in an attic setting that combined the functional with good looks.

The same fabric, a Provincial print with flecks of green, orange, pink and yellow on a black background, was used also on the daybed, banquettes, throw pillows and other cushioning in the room.

"You don't need to spend a fortune to convert an attic into a useful room," Barrett points out. "This new material (1-16 of an inch) can be sewed, stapled, tacked, cut with scissors, applied by a do-it-yourselfer with staples or fixative."

He suggests making the attic cozy by choosing a gay fabric, using bookcases (he used L-shaped bookshelves of wormy chestnut) with one shelf adapted to reading in bed.

"Old furniture, perhaps the very furniture one had stored in the attic, may supply the atmosphere hold a concealed light trough for that lends charm. Mix what you like — French, Italian, English, Dutch, American. We are in a transitional period in design, borrowing from the past, combining furnishing and accessories into what is evolving as a distinctive look of its own. It is not a look of space ships at all, but rather a back-to-the-home-we-used - to-know kind of look, a look of the 1930s or a turn - of - the - century-and - a - few - years - later look."

In his attic Barrett used a Dutch chest, a French parquette-floor coffee table, an Italian wrought-iron arm holding a wire basket filled with greens.

Four old French iron chairs are cushioned in plair yellow fabric and a Judge's chair was upholstered in black leather. A French tole chandelier was hung over a card table designed by Barrett and a collection of brass framed mirrors was used on the wall.

One side of the daybed nestling under the eaves was against a white brick chimney wall, the other was marked with floor-to-ceiling wood posts. Sheer curtains were used and radiators were concealed beneath the window seats.

A modern painting by Kun was on the wall. Six pillows for lounging on the random-width pegged oak-patterned vinyl floor were of the same Provincial print as used on the walls.

Other rooms have made excellent use of the new laminated fabric. Virginia Whitmore Kelly employed it for acoustical purposes in a hi-fi room, covering walls, doors, ceilings. Staniford Squires sandiwched urethane between two fabrics to serve as a cord and pulley roll-up shade in a seaside cottage.

Home Remodel Course Awaited

COLUMBUS — Retail and building materials dealers from a six-state area will meet here Monday for a week-long intensive course in home remodeling.

William L. Johnson, president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association, which sponsors the course, said there is an urgent need for complete one-stop remodeling centers where a home owner can get help with all phases of a planned remodeling project.

"The most logical person to furnish all of the services for remodeling is the local retail lumber and building materials dealer," he said. "He is an established local businessman who is already fully acquainted with the best and newest building materials. The training he will get in our Home and Property (HAPI) program will help him coordinate these skills and provide home owners with a true one-stop remodeling center."

About 92 per cent of American Negroes lived in the South in 1860. Today only about 60 per cent live in Southern states.

Turf-Cutting Aids Mowing

The man who mows his own lawn knows that it is impossible to cut close to shrubbery without danger of clipping away at the bottom foliage and eventually spoiling the shape of ornamental pieces.

He also knows that he must get down on his knees with a hand clipper to cut around them.

A lawn that can be cut in a half hour will take another half hour for trimming around the shrubs so that long grass and weeds will not be bunched in with the shrubs themselves and spoil the otherwise neat-looking job. It is these extra chores that use up the day and make what should be a quick job a tiresome performance.

There is an easy way to avoid this extra work. It consists of cutting out the turf around a group of shrubs. When the lawn mower reaches a group of shrubs so treated it can be run around the edge without interrupting your stride. As soon as a weed or a blade of grass appears within the bare - earth circle, it can be plucked out in a second and the earth need only be raked occasionally to keep the planting looking neat and clean.

Aside from time saved, these circles add a finishing touch and improve the general appearance of a place.

As a rule, the bare earth should not extend more than one foot from the base of the shrubs. It is not desirable to allow a large expanse of ground to bake out in the sun and effect the root system of the shrubbery. Another good reason for the outlining method is that the bare ground will naturally be on a lower level than the lawn itself and thus act as a catch-basin for rain or sprinkling.

Sec. Goldberg Warns On Missile Stoppages

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg says any work stoppages at the nation's missile plants could prompt him to seek anti-strike legislation from Congress.

"We cannot afford a strike in our missile manufacturing plants," Goldberg said Sunday during a radio and television program taped with Sen. Kenneth B Keating, R-N.Y., for use in New York.

Goldberg expressed hope for a peaceful settlement of a dispute between missile manufacturers and two unions—the United Auto Workers and the Machinists—which threatens to end in a strike July 23. About 125,000 workers at five plants are involved.

Albee Homes Boosts Sales By 120 Pct.

NILES, Ohio — A year ago today a dynamic business executive predicted a 75 per cent sales increase for his building firm.

Today, after 365 days of combined salesmanship and showmanship, Albee Homes, Inc., of Niles announces a 120 per cent increase in sales volume for its fiscal year ending June 30.

Dollar figures are even more luminary. Sales in the last week of June pushed total receipts over $23,000,000. Combining revenues from Albee Owned subsidiaries and the figure reaches $40,000,000.

Alex Gross, the energetic vice president who made last year's forecast, now predicts another 120 per cent increase for the next 12 months.

Gross, who enjoys nothing better than a firm sale, bases his new prediction on Albee's ever increasing expansion program which has witnessed this pre-cut building firm's meteoric rise to the nation's top spot in do-it-yourself home building circles.

From a humble start in Ellwood, Pa., in 1949 to an 11-state operation by 1962 is the basic Albee story.

Behind the scenes is the table of four brothers. Company president, brother Bill, is the financial chief; brother Sam is the buyer, traveling worldwide to obtain the finest in available lumber; brother Ben is sales manager of Albee's Warren office and brother Alex needs no further introduction.

Main care for the organization is located at its production plant and offices here.

McGuffey Unit Elects

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — C. C. Bennett of Portsmouth has been re-elected president of the Federation of McGuffey Societies. The federation's two-day meeting at Miami University, where William Holmes McGuffey taught while he wrote his famed readers, ended Sunday.

Coarse Wire Brush Advised If Cleaning Fireplace Brick

Few things detract from a living room quite as much as smudged and sooty bricks along the top edge of the fireplace opening.

They are so easy to clean that there is little excuse for leaving them in such a condition.

To begin with, brick is a very porous material. Therefore, caution must be exercised in the treatment of them. The ordinary run of brick, known as common brick, is much more porous than the hard-burned yellow or tapestry brick, and most fireplaces these days are built with a facing of common brick.

Acids and detergents will clean brick if they are properly applied, and a thorough job can be done by a person who knows what he is doing.

But, in many cases, the use of them results only in diluting the soot and tar deposits on the front of the fireplace and allowing it to soak deeply into the brick and spread to the surrounding surface as well. It is not exaggerating to say that fully half of the time this is what happens.

If you have a stained and sooted fireplace, the safe method is to use a coarse wire brush and scrub the surface while it is dry. This takes time, but it is a job that will put a new face on the brick and it is well worth while.

It will not spread the soot or tar deposits. And there is no chance of diluting them and allowing them to soak deeply into the porous material on which you are working.

If the scrubbed bricks look too clean in comparison with the others which are not sooted, a very light going-over for the whole surface will soon remedy that.

Varied Types Of Nails Aired

AP Newsfeatures

Question: I've just started to take up woodworking and am using prepared plans for some small projects. The instructions often call for different types of nails. The terms are somewhat confusing.

Can you tell me something about the different kinds of nails and what they are used for?

Answer: It would take more space than is available to discuss the hundreds of different types of nails. But here's a quick rundown on the more common kinds of nails.

What are called common nails, by the way, are those use for general construction work. Similar to them, but smaller, are box nails, used for light construction work.

Then there are wire nails, also used for light work. These three types are distinguished by the fact that they have regular nailheads.

There are three other widely used nails in what is called the finishing category; they have very tiny heads so that they can be sunk below the surface of the wood. One kind is called a finishing nail. Another, a bit heavier, is called a casing nail. A third, lighter than the finishing nail, is called a brad.

There are many other types of nails used for special work. Among them are plaster, aluminum, threaded, insulation lath, asphalt roofing and boat nails.

Decorate Your Outdoors

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some people lose decorating perspective when it comes to the outdoors, especially when summer furniture clearance sales are under way.

Many proponants of good design have criticized outdoor furniture, believing we should put more effort into furnishing our outdoors in a manner that complements our indoors.

People with ordinary backyards, fancy terraces or more elaborate patios should take into consideration the same things when choosing furniture:

Is it durable if it must be left out?

If not, do we have a place to store it?

Will it flatter the place where it is to be used?

TWICE BLEST is the person who need not worry about impressing anyone and can choose what fits his individual requirements for comfort and appearance, regardless of price.

One needs a practiced eye to determine furniture that will most flatter his yard. Sale merchandise is not always the answer. But often if one is willing to wait, and has determined what best fits his needs, he may find attractive bargains.

Furniture should be considered just as much of an investment outdoors as indoors, no matter what the price. Furniture that can be moved to sunroom, enclosed porch, den or playroom in winter offers inducements for wise purchasers.

If one is choosing furniture for a brick or flagstone terrace, the heaviest wrought iron furniture can be used.

This furniture is available in designs that are more beautiful than ever with chic, weatherproof cushions. If this furniture is to be used on a lawn, however, it may be too heavy and wear into the soil in lopsided fashion that does not provide comfort. Temperamental mowers of lawns are likely to rebel at having to move heavy lawn furniture.

FURNITURE that is too light offers disadvantages also, and it often takes a beating in storms.

It presents danger on city apartment building terraces because it can blow from its terraced perch, and sail into a window pane or even blow to the street or another terrace.

Many stores sell inexpensive folding furniture made of pine which people like to weather outdoors, storing the pieces compactly in garage or cellar during winter.

But often the hardiness of this furniture is deceiving and one leaves it out during winter, only to find that nails have rusted and the wood has given way at various points.

Redwood is attractive and is a sturdy wood that mellows with age, suited particularly well to country living.

Inexpensive natural rattan furniture imported from the Orient is available each year. It stacks easily for storage and takes well to paint finishes. These pieces can be attractive on lawn, sun porch or on patio, used with colorful cushions.

Director style chairs are very durable, fold for storage and are popular in the country and at the shore. The long-lived chairs can be kept looking good by replacing seats and backs with canvas or sail cloth whenever necessary.

But often the hardiness of this furniture is deceiving and one leaves it out during winter, only to find that nails have rusted and the wood has given way at various points.

Redwood is attractive and is a sturdy wood that mellows with age, suited particularly well to country living.

Inexpensive natural rattan furniture imported from the Orient is available each year. It stacks easily for storage and takes well to paint finishes. These pieces can be attractive on lawn, sun porch or on patio, used with colorful cushions.

Director style chairs are very durable, fold for storage and are popular in the country and at the shore. The long-lived chairs can be kept looking good by replacing seats and backs with canvas or sail cloth whenever necessary.

Road Probe Estimate Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — House investigators expect to get a federal appraiser's estimate today on West Virginia's overpayment for land to widen a highway in Beckley.

Through staff probers the committee plans to put into the record the amount the state paid for 30-odd parcels to widen a four block stretch of South Oakwood Avenue.

The committee, to convene at 1 p.m. EST, wants a step-by-step account of the different appraisals made of the various parcels in 1959 and how the prices were increased before final settlement.

Frank K. Wall, chief appraiser for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, was scheduled to give his "retroactive appraisal" of the value of each property.

The committee heard testimony Friday from four property owners. Each told how he received considerably more for his property than he was originally offered.

Committee investigators traced each purchase from first appraisal through final settlement.

They determined that $181,929 had been paid to the four owners but Wall estimated the properties were worth only $44,555.

The testimony prompted acting chairman James C. Wright Jr., D-Tex., to comment:

"That is a wide span of difference. I shudder to think what the cost to the government would be if this were true throughout the entire road system."

Sea Scouts Catch Prize Fish By Hand

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP) — Richard Cain caught a pound-and-a-half black bass at a lake here and if it hadn't been for two teenagers he would have won a cash prize for the biggest bass of the week.

The prize, however, went to Leonard Pierce and Terry Kahler, Sea Scouts, who were canoeing when a black bass leaped in the canoe. They caught it with their hands. The fish weighed two and a half pounds.

5 Terms At Cleveland

Celebrezze Held Mayor Office For Record Time

CLEVELAND (AP) — Anthony J. Celebrezze, named Saturday by President Kennedy to be secretary of health, education and welfare, has been mayor of Cleveland longer than any other man.

"Tony," as he is known to constituents, is the first man of foreign birth to be elected to the $25,000-a-year job of heading this eighth largest city in the nation.

Until now, it had appeared he not only liked the job well enough to work at it 16 hours a day, but also to stay with it in preference to running for high state or national office or accepting a federal judge appointment he probably could have had.

And Clevelanders have liked him on the job, too.

Even though Democrats have held City Hall here since 1941, the victory margins Celebrezze (pronounced sell - uh-breezy) has rolled up are impressive. He won a fourth term in 1959 by more than 2-1 and last fall was elected to an unprecedented fifth term by the biggest majority ever recorded in a Cleveland mayoralty contest—biggest in votes, an edge of 92,000, and biggest in percentage of total votes cast, 73 per cent.

Celebrezze is a Roman Catholic and Cleveland has one of the nation's largest Catholic communities.

Short in stature, given to wearing dark suits with a flowing white handkerchief in the lapel pocket, and adorned by a generous dark mustache of the kind that characterized the old silent movie villain, Celebrezze is not the glamor-type politican. Nor is he the spell-binding orator type. His delivery is quiet, almost flat, unless he is aroused by his subject. Then he turns up the volume and his voice takes life. It booms.

The mayor's big assets in getting votes appear to be his sincerity and the record he has compiled. Currently he is going after a tax increase, but his conservative record is one of holding the line on taxes during his first four terms, promoting good law enforcement and keeping a multi-million - dollar municipal business clean of graft and scandal.

Twice this year the mayor has hit the headlines nationally through criticism of officials in southern cities.

The first time involved the sending of an airliner laden with Cuban refugees from Miami to Cleveland for resettlement. Celebrezze let it be known he was not in accord with the move and that jobs available should go first to the many Clevelanders already on unemployed rolls.

More recently, he engaged in a sharp exchange with the mayor of Centreville, Ala. over the reverse Freedom Ride of a large Negro family for whom southerns paid bus fare to Cleveland.

Among all of the 13 children of Rocco Vincenzo and Donata Lucia Marcogiuseppe Cilibrizzi, only Tony was born in Italy. At family reunions his brothers and sisters jibe him good-naturedly as "the foreigner." Long ago the family name was changed to its present spelling to make it easier for Americans to pronounce, but it's still not easy for many.

Tony was born in Anzi, in the rocky, wooded province of Lucania on the instep of the Italian boot, on Sept. 4, 1910. At that time his father already had returned to the United States, and when Tony was 2, his mother took him to America reuniting the family.

Had it not been that hard times befell the family in Ohio, Tony, ninth arrival among the 13 children, would have been on this side of the Atlantic, too.

Even after work was steadier for his father, a railroad track laborer, Tony and his brothers and sisters never had any really easy times. When the boys were old enough, they got summer jobs on the railroad section gangs and sold newspapers at a downtown stand that was known as "Celebrezze Corner."

The future mayor grew up in a rough-and-tough near eastside neighborhood which later became one of the slum areas he was to help rehabilitate as the city's chief executive. Slum clearance has been an important achievement of his administration.

In 1929 Tony was graduated from Central High School where he played halfback on the football team. To stay in school, he added to his newsboy earnings by boxing in club shows at night. After a year at John Carroll University in Cleveland he went to Ohio Northern University at Ada and got a bachelor of law degree in 1936.

When he had passed his bar examination, Celebrezze worked in the legal department of the state bureau of unemployment compensation in Columbus, Ohio, until 1939, then came here to practice law alone.

He married a childhood sweetheart on May 7, 1938—Anne Marco, a native Clevelander, a valedictorian at Tony's Central high alma mater, and at the time of their marriage a school teacher. They have three children: Anthony Jr., born in 1941; Jean Ann, born in 1944, and Susan Marie, born in 1948.

Celebrezze gained political prominence as a state senator to which he was elected in 1950 and re-elected in 1952. He was generally regarded as one of the most able, independent and popular members of Ohio's Upper House, where downstate senators traditionally eye the Cleveland members with suspicion. As a state senator, Celebrezze's interests spanned a wide range—judiciary, taxation, civil defense, highways, railroads, utilities, television.

Donald Hancock, president of the East Liverpool Democrat Club, invited club members to the Columbiana County Democrat picnic Aug. 26 at Arrowhead Lake, near Columbiana.

Other guests were Robert E. Roach, candidate for county commissioner, and Dan Grossi, candidate for clerk of circuit court, and Charles Kology, member of Chester Council.

William C. Graham, president, presided. Lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Orenzuk and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Potts.

Miss Alberta Stravinsky, secretary, reminded members that all future meetings will be on the third Sunday of the month.

Candy Handed 14 Jailed For Race Move In Illinois

CAIRO, Ill. (AP) — Fourteen jailed integrationists, vowing not to eat until they are released, got candy bars through their cell bars Sunday.

Police said it was not known if the 14 ate any of the candy. None of them accepted jail lunches or suppers.

Two of the 14 ate breakfast, then vowed with the others to refuse all food. Dozens of Negroes visited the jail during the day and passed candy bars to the prisoners.

Three white men, a white woman and 10 Negro teen-agers were jailed Saturday when they refused police orders to move from the entrance of an all-white swimming pool.

Four others arrested at the same time are free on bond. Those remaining in jail said they did not want bond.

All are scheduled to appear in court Thursday on charges ranging from violation of the state law against mob action, breach of the peace and obstructing an officer. Possible penalties are one year in jail and fines of $500.

President Heads For Work After Weekend Sailing

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy returns to Washington today after his second Cape Cod summer weekend of rest and relaxation on the sparkling blue waters of Nantucket Sound.

The President has no public appointments for his first day back from the weekend, but he is expected to get a first-hand report from his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, due in from Brazil.

A scheduled presidential visit to Brazil was put off last week because of the political situation there. The announcement of the delay came as Salinger was in Brazil.

The President varied his weekend program of boating, swimming and water sports in the vicinity of the summer White House Sunday.

He took off aboard the No. 2 presidential yacht Patrick J. — named for his paternal grandfather — for a run of 20-odd miles across Nantucket Sound to Martha's Vineyard, where the boat put in at Edgartown Harbor, mecca of coastal yachtsmen.

The presidential yacht stayed only a few moments at a pier near the Edgartown Yacht Club, then put out to sea again.

The President returned to his summer White House in late afternoon after nearly six hours on the water.

Minor Damage Listed In Valley Ave. Mishap

Damage was minor in a two-car crash Saturday night at 8 on Valley Ave., East End, Constable Leonard Watters of Liverpool Township reported.

A 1953 model sedan being turned around by Joseph L. Jasenec, 830 Valley Ave., struck the right door of the 1955 sedan of Orvis Chandler of Bridge St., the constable said.

He estimated $10 damage to Jasenec's car, and $38 to the other. No charges were filed after Jasenec agreed to pay for the damage, he said.

Too Many Twins

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Officials of the Comstock Children's Hospital in Tucson announced they had appointed R. Roylston to the board of directors. Then the problem arose. Was the new appointee Robert Roylston or his twin Richard? To save an embarrassing question, the officials decided to wait until the new board met and see which Roylston showed up.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Conversing With Children Is An Art

When I have visited nursery schools and kindergartens with a specialist in child development, I've been impressed by the manner in which this person talks to individual children; also by the way in which the teacher in the nursery school or kindergarten converses with the children in or about the school. When the child is asked a question he accepts it as an honest question and he freely responds, sometimes asking a question in turn or talking naturally at length. Never have I seen this child specialist smile at anything the youngster says. Always the child seems to feel comfortable and to enjoy conversing with the adult.

Dr. Garry Meyers

PERHAPS THE finest thing a parent can observe in a nursery school or kindergarten is the high level on which the teacher there communicates with the children individually or in groups.

You and I also have been in homes in which we observed delightful conversation by the parents with a child, two, five or six. Nor have these parents nearly all been persons of much education.

Indeed, you and I have occasionally seen highly educated parents who didn't seem to make a young child comfortable when they conversed with him in our presence.

What an artistic accomplishment of a parent or guest who when talking to a child, or about him in his presence, causes this child to warm up to him or her and express himself freely and comfortably!

WHEREAS considerable study of child development, of how the youngster feels when he talks to another person and what may make him feel comfortable or uncomfortable when he speaks should enable anybody to cause a young child while speaking to us to feel comfortable, mere knowledge is not enough.

The main thing is for us to be able to put ourselves in our imagination in the child'splace. The better we can do this, the more freely the young child will communicate with us.

This precious ability may not come from books. Even illiterates may have it.

Because of our human frailties, we parents easily can fail to keep considering how the child feels. So, inclined to forget this matter and to fail to check on ourselves, we may smile or laugh aloud at an honest, innocent question a young child asks or at a remark he makes.

SUPPOSE SEVERAL members of the family then laugh all at once. Suppose, alas, a guest is present and a parent repeats an utterance by a little child in his presence, or sets the stage so this little child will repeat the utterance himself, so that all the adults present might laugh uproariously. Suppose you were that child.

How would you feel? What effect would it have on you in future moments, future years?

My bulletins, "Fears in Children" and "A Parent's Prayer," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

NASA Plans Balloon Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The eastern United States may receive a brilliant predawn show Wednesday when the space agency attempts to inflate a giant space sphere nearly 1,000 miles above the Atlantic Ocean.

Officials hope those up early enough to witness the inflation will have better viewing than on a similar launching last Jan. 15, when one of the big spheres ripped to shreds two seconds after it expanded to its full 135-foot diameter.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that Wednesday is the earliest possible launch date. The attempt will be made between 4 and 6 a.m. (EST). The rays of the rising sun will reflect off the aluminum-coated ball and it should appear as a bright star moving across the southern sky.

Purpose of the experiment is to test techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite later this year.

The Thor booster is to free the balloon—dubbed Big Shot—at an altitude of 230 miles. The ball, folded neatly in a canister on launching, is to inflate and drift to an altitude of 950 miles before plummeting back to burn up in the earth's atmosphere some 600 miles down range and 20 minutes after launching.

Russian Rushes From Car Crash Near New York

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Police say a Soviet employe sideswiped another auto with his car Sunday night and rushed off to the Soviet estate here, telling the other driver he didn't have time to wait for authorities.

Police traced the driver, identified as Igor Andreev, an employe of the Soviet secretariat at the United Nations, to the Soviet estate through his license plate number, which had been jotted down by the other driver involved — Anthony Nosel of Glen Head, N.Y.

At the estate, police said, Andreev told them he thought he had properly identified himself to the other driver and had rushed off because he was in a hurry.

Nosel, his wife and two children were treated for minor injuries.

A police spokesman said it is doubtful that any action will be taken.

Foreign nationals in this country on diplomatic visas are immune from prosecution.

City Couple Cited For Disturbance

A city couple is scheduled to receive a hearing at 5 p. m. today before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville on charges of disorderly conduct following their arrest Sunday at 2:30 a. m. at Pop's Tavern at 17th and Main Sts., Wellsville.

Police said Okey Fryman and his wife, Mrs. Gladys Fryman, 747 Daisy Ln., were cited following a disturbance at the tavern.

Another couple was cited outside the tavern for causing a disturbance just as the officers arrived at the scene.

Robert Yeager and his wife, Mrs. Nancy Yeager, of the Y. & O. Rd. are charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Officers said Mrs. Yeager took a swing at one of them as they started in the door. She became angry when told they could not take another woman to the hospital who was ill and that she should summon an ambulance, police said.

Her husband then jumped the officer when he put his wife in the cruiser, police said. They also are scheduled to receive hearings tonight before the mayor.

Police said the two couples were not involved in a fight among themselves.

Police said Okey Fryman and his wife, Mrs. Gladys Fryman, 747 Daisy Ln., were cited following a disturbance at the tavern.

Another couple was cited outside the tavern for causing a disturbance just as the officers arrived at the scene.

Robert Yeager and his wife, Mrs. Nancy Yeager, of the Y. & O. Rd. are charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Officers said Mrs. Yeager took a swing at one of them as they started in the door. She became angry when told they could not take another woman to the hospital who was ill and that she should summon an ambulance, police said.

Her husband then jumped the officer when he put his wife in the cruiser, police said. They also are scheduled to receive hearings tonight before the mayor.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Conversing With Children Is An Art

When I have visited nursery schools and kindergartens with a specialist in child development, I've been impressed by the manner in which this person talks to individual children; also by the way in which the teacher in the nursery school or kindergarten converses with the children in or about the school. When the child is asked a question he accepts it as an honest question and he freely responds, sometimes asking a question in turn or talking naturally at length. Never have I seen this child specialist smile at anything the youngster says. Always the child seems to feel comfortable and to enjoy conversing with the adult.

PERHAPS THE finest thing a parent can observe in a nursery school or kindergarten is the high level on which the teacher there communicates with the children individually or in groups.

You and I also have been in homes in which we observed delightful conversation by the parents with a child, two, five or six. Nor have these parents nearly all been persons of much education.

Indeed, you and I have occasionally seen highly educated parents who didn't seem to make a young child comfortable when they conversed with him in our presence.

What an artistic accomplishment of a parent or guest who when talking to a child, or about him in his presence, causes this child to warm up to him or her and express himself freely and comfortably!

WHEREAS considerable study of child development, of how the youngster feels when he talks to another person and what may make him feel comfortable or uncomfortable when he speaks should enable anybody to cause a young child while speaking to us to feel comfortable, mere knowledge is not enough.

The main thing is for us to be able to put ourselves in our imagination in the child'splace. The better we can do this, the more freely the young child will communicate with us.

This precious ability may not come from books. Even illiterates may have it.

Because of our human frailties, we parents easily can fail to keep considering how the child feels. So, inclined to forget this matter and to fail to check on ourselves, we may smile or laugh aloud at an honest, innocent question a young child asks or at a remark he makes.

SUPPOSE SEVERAL members of the family then laugh all at once. Suppose, alas, a guest is present and a parent repeats an utterance by a little child in his presence, or sets the stage so this little child will repeat the utterance himself, so that all the adults present might laugh uproariously. Suppose you were that child.

How would you feel? What effect would it have on you in future moments, future years?

My bulletins, "Fears in Children" and "A Parent's Prayer," may be had by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

NASA Plans Balloon Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The eastern United States may receive a brilliant predawn show Wednesday when the space agency attempts to inflate a giant space sphere nearly 1,000 miles above the Atlantic Ocean.

Officials hope those up early enough to witness the inflation will have better viewing than on a similar launching last Jan. 15, when one of the big spheres ripped to shreds two seconds after it expanded to its full 135-foot diameter.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said that Wednesday is the earliest possible launch date. The attempt will be made between 4 and 6 a.m. (EST). The rays of the rising sun will reflect off the aluminum-coated ball and it should appear as a bright star moving across the southern sky.

Purpose of the experiment is to test techniques for launching an advanced Echo communications satellite later this year.

The Thor booster is to free the balloon—dubbed Big Shot—at an altitude of 230 miles. The ball, folded neatly in a canister on launching, is to inflate and drift to an altitude of 950 miles before plummeting back to burn up in the earth's atmosphere some 600 miles down range and 20 minutes after launching.

Russian Rushes From Car Crash Near New York

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Police say a Soviet employe sideswiped another auto with his car Sunday night and rushed off to the Soviet estate here, telling the other driver he didn't have time to wait for authorities.

Police traced the driver, identified as Igor Andreev, an employe of the Soviet secretariat at the United Nations, to the Soviet estate through his license plate number, which had been jotted down by the other driver involved — Anthony Nosel of Glen Head, N.Y.

At the estate, police said, Andreev told them he thought he had properly identified himself to the other driver and had rushed off because he was in a hurry.

Nosel told police that Andreev showed him a card indicating his Soviet affiliations when they got out to survey damage to their cars at the accident scene.

Nosel, his wife and two children were treated for minor injuries.

A police spokesman said it is doubtful that any action will be taken.

Foreign nationals in this country on diplomatic visas are immune from prosecution.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

3 CARDS OF THANKS

OUR sorrow is hard to bear, but we know that without the comfort and consolation of our friends, neighbors and relatives, the loss of our beloved Hazel Grace Malkin, would have been a heavy burden. We extend our grateful acknowledgment to the Martin Funeral Home, the Rev. John Clark, to those who sent floral offerings, and to each and every person whose kindness and thoughtfulness helped us so much at this time.

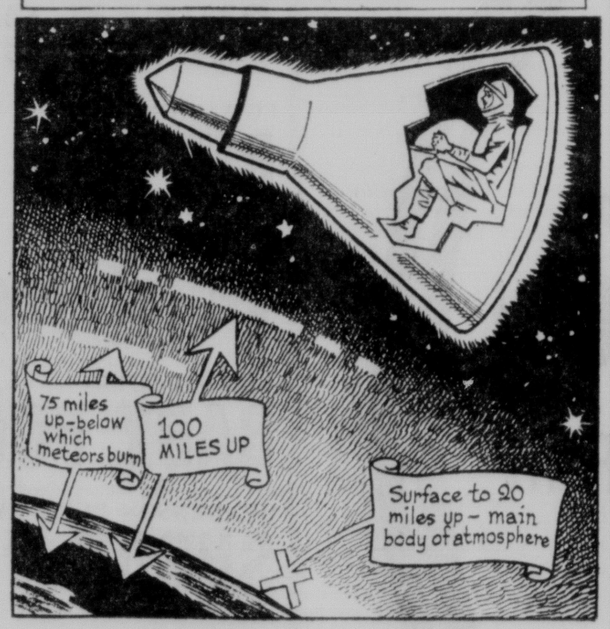
Junior Editors Quiz on SPACE



QUESTION: How high is space?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Of course the word "space" may simply mean size or area; we might say, "Is there enough space to play ball in this yard?" But these days the word has come to have a special meaning. This is illustrated in our picture. The earth is surrounded by atmosphere, which is the air we breathe. This is comparatively dense for 20 miles up; about 99 per cent of the atmosphere lies below the 20-mile mark. Up to 75 miles, there is still enough air to cause meteors which pass through it to heat by friction so that most burn up. But beyond 100 miles up, there is hardly any air left and not far above this the air vanishes entirely. When rockets or capsules, such as our bold astronauts have been using, have gone beyond 100 miles we generally speak of them as having reached "space." Our astronauts Alan Shephard and Virgil Grissom reached about 117 miles above the earth in their Project Mercury capsules, and that is why we call them our first "spacemen." No one can tell how far space extends, for, as telescopes improve, new stars are discovered at enormous distances away.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Space history is being written these days. Watch for and save the copy of your newspaper which tells of some important new space shot—it will be of great interest later.

Sweet Corn Harvest Early; Bigger Volume To Cut Price

The biggest news at area markets is the arrival of the first of the home grown sweet corn crop, harvested early as a warm spring, Richard Skinner, market information specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service at Canfield, commented today in his weekly report.

Sweet corn will be in good supply until after Labor Day, he said. Prices will drop within the next few weeks when the volume of locally-grown corn increases, he added.

Freshness is important for this item and many growers are cooling and icing the corn to maintain its sweetness. Retailers, too, usually keep the corn cooled. Homemakers should take a trip from this by refrigerating the corn after getting it home to keep this fine quality.

Unless sweet corn is cooled immediately after picking, the sugar begins to turn to starch. This change takes place more rapidly at higher temperatures.

As the sugar changes to starch the corn will lose its sweet flavor and tenderness. Consumers should buy corn that is displayed in a cool place. This means at a retail store the corn should be refrigerated or iced and at a roadside market the corn should be displayed in the shade.

Peaches from the Southern states are now on the market at quite reasonable prices. They are coming mostly from the Carolinas and Georgia.

The local peach season will also be earlier this year. You may be able to find a few local peaches within the next two weeks; however, volume will not begin until some time after Aug. 1.

Practically all commercially grown peaches in this area are freestones. The yellow fleshed varieties are grown more frequently than white fleshed peaches.

The Western cantaloupe season began later than usual this year, but a heavy volume is now moving from California and Arizona. Prices have dropped sharply the last couple of weeks and are now under a year ago.

However, the summer crop is expected to be lighter which may cause prices to shift upward in the coming weeks. Home grown cantaloupes will reach the market in September.

Grape supplies are increasing and prices are reasonable. Thompson seedless (the small green grape) and Cardinal are the main varieties.

20 Injured In 5-Car Crash In Heavy Rain

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A spectacular five-car pile-up Sunday on Ohio 77 about five miles south of here injured 20 persons —three of them critically.

Highway patrolmen said one of the cars apparently went out of control while attempting to pass another auto and spun into a line of oncoming vehicles. The accident occurred during a heavy rain.

Reported in critical condition in Bethesda Hospital here were Mrs. Louise Henry, 47, and Morris Ankrom, 47, both of Columbus, and Mrs. Leora Evans, 56, of nearby Gaysports.

City Man, 38, Hurt At Work

A man injured this morning while working at a Chester garage and nine other persons hurt over the weekend were treated at City Hospital.

Howard Gill, 38, of 940 Fairview St., a mechanic at the M. & J. Trucking Co., 91 W. Carolina Ave., Chester, suffered a laceration of the lower right leg when a steel roll hit him as he was taking it off a trailer about 7 a. m. today.

Five were treated Sunday and four Saturday. Yesterday's casualties included Franklin K. Boyd, 18, of 1940 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., who cut his right forearm when he fell on a glass at home.

Prudy George, 10, daughter of Willis George, 300 Gardendale Ave., was treated for a puncture wound of the right foot suffered when she stepped on a nail.

Mark Huyghe, 4, son of Albert Huyghe of Irondale, was cut on the scalp when struck by a swing.

Thomas Browning, 3, son of Thomas Browning, 724 Edwards Ave., suffered a laceration of the head when he fell from the seat of a car and struck a tool box.

Those injured Saturday included Donald Cramer, 9, son of Floyd Cramer, 1027 Florence St., who suffered a possible fracture of the left arm in a fall from a swing.

Fred Stafford, 5, son of Fred Stafford of New Cumberland R.D. 2, cut his forehead in a fall at home.

Robert Champion, 7, son of Charles Champion of Carrollton R. D. 2, suffered a fracture of the right arm in a fall from a garage roof.

Robert Smith, 28, of R. D. 3 suffered a pucture wound of the right hand on a nail.

Vatican Thinks Bomb Planter 'Mental Case'

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican officials investigated today a bomb explosion in St. Peter's Basilica but said they attach no political significance to the blast. They said it appeared the work of someone mentally deranged.

The tiny time bomb went off Saturday night after the Basilica had closed. Damage was slight and no one was injured.

Sweet Corn Harvest Early; Bigger Volume To Cut Price

The biggest news at area markets is the arrival of the first of the home grown sweet corn crop, harvested early as a result of a warm spring, Richard Skinner, market information specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service at Canfield, commented today in his weekly report.

Sweet corn will be in good supply until after Labor Day, he said. Prices will drop within the next few weeks when the volume of locally-grown corn increases, he added.

Freshness is important for this item and many growers are cooling and icing the corn to maintain its sweetness. Retailers, too, usually keep the corn cooled. Homemakers should take a trip from this by refrigerating the corn after getting it home to keep this fine quality.

Unless sweet corn is cooled immediately after picking, the sugar begins to turn to starch. This change takes place more rapidly at higher temperatures.

As the sugar changes to starch the corn will lose its sweet flavor and tenderness. Consumers should buy corn that is displayed in a cool place. This means at a retail store the corn should be refrigerated or iced and at a roadside market the corn should be displayed in the shade.

Peaches from the Southern states are now on the market at quite reasonable prices. They are coming mostly from the Carolinas and Georgia.

The local peach season will also be earlier this year. You may be able to find a few local peaches within the next two weeks; however, volume will not begin until some time after Aug. 1.

Practically all commercially grown peaches in this area are freestones. The yellow fleshed varieties are grown more frequently than white fleshed peaches.

The Western cantaloupe season began later than usual this year, but a heavy volume is now moving from California and Arizona. Prices have dropped sharply the last couple of weeks and are now under a year ago.

However, the summer crop is expected to be lighter which may cause prices to shift upward in the coming weeks. Home grown cantaloupes will reach the market in September.

Grape supplies are increasing and prices are reasonable. Thompson seedless (the small green grape) and Cardinal are the main varieties.
